Paris 'Pawns' Feel Canada Failed Them

By GORDON G. DEWAR
Special to the Colonist

OTTAWA—Canadian delegates felt like pawns in a game they did not understand when they went to Paris recently to attend the annual North Atlantic Treaty Organization Parliamentarians' Conference.

Missile Nerves Probed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. defense department has ordered a closer check on the emotional status of men who handle nuclear weapons because:

1. A U.S. Air Force sergeant, in 1955, threatened to commit suicide by shooting a pistol bullet into a nuclear bomb.

2. An air policeman guarding a missile talked about an impulse to fire a pistol at the missile, which was on a pad, "to see what would happen."

3. An airplane narrowly overtook a ground wire in an electric circuit and an intercontinental ballistic missile, without a warhead, was destroyed by fire and explosion.

An air force spokesman gave this background yesterday for an announcement that all other services are being directed to adopt an air force safety check system on the human element among those who have access to nuclear weapons.

The spokesman said none of the incidents cited could have produced a nuclear explosion.

Rusk, Mikoyan Keep Talking

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Mikoyan conferred in a "spirit of goodwill" Friday on Cuba and other cold war problems. A U.S. spokesman said he could not say whether the two men discussed East-West relations.

Danger Still High —India

NEW DELHI (AP)—Still digging in defensively, Indian troops waited tensely today for Communist China to make good its promise to begin pulling back from positions along the Himalayan border.

Red China insisted the withdrawal would take place on a schedule and authoritative sources reported the Indian government had indications the Red Chinese will pull back.

HIGH DANGER

It may be days before Indian forces can ascertain whether the Communists units are doing what they say they are.

Indian officials felt that until the situation clarified there was high danger of an incident that could spark renewal of the heavy fighting that brought Peking's forces to the edge of India's populous plains of Assam.

REPEAT STAND

Red China reaffirmed its intentions in a defence ministry communiqué issued Friday and broadcast by Peking radio early today. The conditions were the same as when Red China imposed a cease-fire along the border Nov. 21.

The Chinese troops, the communiqué said, will pull back 32½ miles behind what Peking calls the line of control of Nov. 7, 1959. The broadcast also called on India to "promptly take corresponding measures" to Peking's cease-fire and troop withdrawal.

Pakistan Prepared

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI)—Opposition members demanded an explanation from the government Friday of the agreement with India to settle the Kashmir issue through direct Indo-Pakistani talks. The general assembly recessed until today so the government could prepare a statement.

New Nina Safe

SAN JUAN (UPI)—A U.S. navy patrol plane Friday sighted the Spanish ship Nina II, a replica of one of Columbus' ships missing for seven weeks with eight men aboard, sailing calmly through azure-blue Caribbean waters.

The ship set out from Spain 48 days ago trying to duplicate Columbus' voyage of discovery to the new world.

WALKIE-TALKIE

The navy plane managed to drop a walkie-talkie to the ship.

"The Neptune reported the men indicated all aboard are in good health," a navy spokesman said. "There is sufficient food and water aboard the vessel for approximately 20 days."

Gas Well Fire

MEDICINE HAT (CP)—Flames shot 100 feet from a natural gas well which was burning out of control south of here Friday. There were no injuries.

Ottawa Miss Wins, Grey Cup in Doubt

MISS GREY CUP
... regal surprise

TORONTO—German born Renata Pichella, Miss Ottawa Rough Rider, almost fell off her stool when she was announced winner of the Miss Grey Cup title here last night. Edmonton and Winnipeg girls were second and third.

The 17-year-old blonde ballet and high school student will reign over football today which may be curtailed if a dense fog continues through the afternoon.

Football officials will decide at 8 a.m. Victoria time if the game will be postponed until Sunday.

Weather forecast calls for light winds which may clear the field by the 10 a.m. PST kick-off.

Thalidomide Sequel

Ottawa Probes Drug Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—The drug industry, awaiting a report by anti-combines investigators into its sale and distribution practices, now is to undergo a searching parliamentary inquiry into the field of introduction, marketing and sale of drugs.

Health Minister Manion announced Friday his intention to move establishment of a special committee to study the industry.

The decision to make a special inquiry comes in the wake of government legislative action to ban sale in Canada of thalidomide, blamed for birth malformations of about 50 infants in Canada and thousands in Germany and other countries.

Mr. Manion also announced in the Commons that his department is restricting sales of preparations containing another chemical ingredient suspected by Swedish authorities of playing a part in congenital malformations.

NEED PRESCRIPTION

Preparations containing thalidomide, sold under the brand names Sedivert, Etilab 707, Bistab 708, Bonadettes, Bonadocin, Bonamine and Promesia, will henceforth require a doctor's prescription.

In addition, a warning about them is being issued to all doctors and druggists.

DEADLY GAS CHOKES HUNDRED

At emergency hospital, unidentified bloodied survivor of tragic airplane crash awaits treatment at Idlewild Airport. —(AP Photofax.)

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—More than 100 people were taken to hospital Friday night as deadly chlorine gas escaping from a railway tank car spread over a large section of Cornwall's northeastern outskirts.

Thirty-five were being kept in two hospitals for treatment for chlorine poisoning, but the rest were discharged after treatment. Hospital officials said all were in satisfactory condition.

Police said the peak danger period had passed. A heavy yellow gas fog which hugged the ground for about six hours had finally dissipated.

Reporters who ventured into the area said a distinct, pungent odor of gas was noticeable and police were warning people to keep clear of the area.

Earlier, police and Emergency Measures Organization officials had evacuated 200 persons and warned the whole heavily-populated northeastern section of the city to prepare for evacuation at a minute's notice in case a change in the direction of the wind swept the gas over the area.

WILL MOVE CAR

Mayor Nick Kamek, after a meeting with police and fire chiefs and officials of Canada Industries Limited, manufacturers of the gas, said attempts would be made to move the railway car tank to a safer area "first thing in the morning."

He said there was little immediate danger because the

Jettliner Escapes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)

The nosewheel of a BOAC 707 jettliner from Hong Kong collapsed last night as the huge plane landed at San Francisco airport.

A BOAC spokesman said none of the 45 passengers and crew aboard suffered even minor injuries in the mishap.

Six Air Disasters Kill 181 in Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The crash Friday night of an Eastern Air Lines DC-8 at Idlewild Airport was the sixth major airplane accident in the last week.

The other five took a combined toll of 181 lives.

The worst one, in terms of fatalities, was Tuesday in Peru when a Los Angeles-bound Varig Airlines 707 hit a mountain minutes before it was to make a pre-dawn landing at Lima airport. All 97 persons aboard—80 passengers and a crew of 17—were killed.

On the previous day, 77 persons died when a Brazilian airliner collided with a small private plane over Sao Paulo state in Brazil.

Three plane crashes occurred a week ago Friday.

A United Air Lines Viscount fell near Elmwood City, Md., killing 17 persons.

A Portuguese military transport plane crashed on St. Thomas Island off West Africa, killing 19 of 32 persons aboard.

And a Hungarian airliner plunged to earth near Paris and all 21 persons aboard died.

'We'll Make It I Think' —25 Died

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Eastern Air Lines DC-8 airliner carrying 46 passengers and a crew of five crashed and burned while landing at fogbound Idlewild airport last night shortly after the pilot had told passengers "I think we'll make it."

The airline said 25 persons were killed in the flaming crash. The fire department said 25 persons survived—leaving the fate of one person unknown. The name J. Deir of Edmonton appeared on the list of known survivors. The pilot was the missing man.

HEAVY FOG

Fog hung so heavy over the huge airport when the airliner—a nonstop flight from Charlotte, N.C.—came in emergency vehicles were unable immediately to locate the burning plane.

A number of flights had been cancelled or diverted before the crash.

Survivor M. V. Little, 54, of Garden City, N.Y., a former executive of Fairchild Aircraft, charged the crash could have been avoided if the four-engine propeller-driven airliner had been diverted to Philadelphia.

"For the Federal Aviation Agency to allow that plane to come in under these (fog) conditions was nothing but a criminal," Little said. "From a height of about 50 feet the (ground) lights were indicated. Then they became more luminous. The pilot attempted to take off again and the rear hit the ground first and then he hit with his wheels, which collapsed."

Little, who made his way to safety under the flames, said survivors were left out on the field for an hour and 10 minutes without being attended to.

The airline said later: "This flight had been cleared to land by the tower. The landing was within the limits of ceiling and visibility. The tower did not declare any emergency."

Survivor John Lott, 54, of Dover, N.J., a television producer, said pilot Capt. Edward Beckwith, one of the Air Line Pilots Association's top safety experts, had expressed concern about the weather before the landing.

SOCKED IN

About one hour before, Lott said, the pilot said on the intercom: "The chances are we might have to land in Philadelphia. We're pretty well socked in at Idlewild."

Thirty minutes later, Lott said, Beckwith told the passengers: "We are over Tappan Hook. We are going to hold."

About six minutes before

Misfortunes Pile Up for Plucky Mother

By DON MATHESON

You do the best you can with what you have—and somehow you get by.

That, essentially, is the outlook of a 35-year-old Victoria woman who will receive a Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund cheque this year.

The size of the cheque depends on the response of her fellow citizens.

It couldn't possibly match

the size of the load of trouble she faces—and fights—day by day.

Her husband left her 12 years ago, shortly after the birth of twins. He died later in England. One twin died and the other is in a Victoria hospital with a seriously weakened heart.

Three more of her 11 children live in her rented home. One is a school boy, is in school, a waitress daughter lost her job a month ago and an older daughter who comes in when the two older daughters are working.

"I sit down with a paper and think about every cent," she said.

Once a semester, she has remade everything possible into other clothes. The wardrobe is empty.

Last month was rough, with no one working. So an extra cheque for $24 was added by welfare.

"I went right down to the store—I'm a craft shopper—and spent it all for food. And I cooked it up, just so much every day... enough... and that was it."

"I try to be as happy as I can... I know there are people worse off than I am. Once I used to make up parcels at Christmas for the poor... I suppose I like them and she hopes to have her daughter home from hospital for Christmas. She is sadly missed, because so much of her young life has been spent at home, sick.

"I'm not ashamed of my home. It's clean. I have my children and it's happy."

This is one Colonist 500 Fund story. The fund cheque will add another slight touch of happiness.

There are 400 other such stories that might well be told. The need is urgent. Will you help?

Thant Elected Unanimously

By JOSEPH MacAWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—U Thant was unanimously elected secretary-general of the United Nations Friday for an additional four years, and hailed by countries of East and West as an international servant of great renown.

The 10-nation UN General Assembly cast secret ballots ratifying a unanimous recommendation by the 11-member Security Council earlier Friday that the 55-year-old former teacher's term be extended until Nov. 3, 1966. The United States and the Soviet Union praised Thant warmly.

The vote was 100 for Thant since one country, Honduras, was absent. Perhaps the most significant feature was that the word "acting" was dropped from Thant's title and in effect stipulated he has been secretary-general in the fullest sense since he was first appointed a year ago.

Typical of the accolades accorded the Burmese Buddhist was the statement of Canadian Ambassador Paul Tremblay, who said:

"It is already possible to identify the special qualities which U Thant brings to the office of the secretary-general — integrity, humility, courage, frankness and caution."

Freight Conductor Appointed Senator

OTTAWA—John Alexander Robertson went to bed a railroad conductor and awoke a senator.

Robertson, 49, of Kenora, Ont., was summoned to the Upper Chamber by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and, according to government reports, was sleeping in the Canadian Pacific Railway bunkhouse in Ignace, Ont., when he received the call from Ottawa.

He declined to say whether he would give up his job with the CPR where he has worked for 23 years.

As a senator, Robertson will receive $10,000 a year. A railway freight conductor with his experience earns about $7,000 annually.

The prime minister's announcement of the appointment said Robertson was "well qualified to speak from the standpoint of labor."

NEW YORK—Robert Moses, president of New York's 1964 World Fair and Laurence Rockefeller, brother of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, were linked in Moses' announcement that he would resign his state jobs as head of the power authority, state and Long Island parks committees. Moses said his resignations stemmed from a request by Gov. Rockefeller to quit the posts as Laurence Rockefeller would be named to replace him.

NOTTINGHAM, England—Dr. Ronald Sprague, chief medical officer for Nottingham schools, said one teenage boy told him he wore his skin-tight jeans to bed at night because it was such a struggle to get them off.

WINNIPEG (CP)—A long-delayed pilgrimage has ended for an elderly English couple. John Briggs, a 20-year-old Royal Air Force flight cadet, was buried here after dying in a 1953 plane crash while training in Canada. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Briggs of Torquay, South Devon, will visit his grave in Brookside Cemetery today. The couple, in their 70s, were brought to the Manitoba capital with the help of the RAF.

More Tests For Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—High Vatican sources said last night that "further checks are being carried out" on Pope John because his doctors are not certain as to the exact nature of his illness.

The report came shortly after an optimistically worded Vatican announcement said the condition of the 81-year-old pontiff "is improving."

Wife May Be Killed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Chinese Communist official who defected to the West said Friday his escape might be worthwhile to the world even if the Communists kill the wife and child he left behind on the Red mainland.

Chao Fu, 27, told a news conference that his wife of four years and his two-year-old daughter might already be dead.

Chao said it was possible, however, that the Peking regime would leave his family in peace. If they were "done away," he said, the word would spread eventually and it would become known in China that he had defected.

He explained that he would be able to tell the world of the conditions in Communist China and of the tyranny under which the Chinese people are living.

Italy Launches Drive Against Dreaded Mafia

ROME (Reuters)—Federal authorities now have a free hand for a drive against the Mafia, the dreaded Sicilian secret society that has struck terror on both sides of the Atlantic.

The Italian Chamber of Deputies approved a decree setting up an all-powerful commission of inquiry to find ways of rooting it out of Sicily.

Getting Together

THE LEADERS of those two Commonwealth neighbors, Pakistan and India, have agreed to get together. President Khan and Prime Minister Nehru will make another attempt to reconcile their long-standing differences over Kashmir and other matters.

This does not necessarily mean a final settlement of old scores, but it suggests an improving climate. The quiet Anglo-American diplomacy which sought to lessen the tension between them in face of the greater danger of Chinese penetration into India has had results.

India is also reported to be pulling out some of the troops she had along the Pakistan frontier and transferring them to the Himalaya where the menace of Chinese invasion, even though a cease-fire momentarily reigns, still remains.

It was ironical that two Commonwealth nations, supposedly family partners as it were, should not draw together or have been forced together by the Chinese threat implicit to the whole Indian continent and not India alone. And more than ironical, even hypocritical, that Pakistan should object to Western arms going to India in her extremity when the West has supplied military weapons to Pakistan itself.

Pakistan seemed blind to the consequences which might be expected to visit it were Chinese domination of India to become a reality.

China, which since its invasion of India has tried to woo Pakistan and take advantage of Pakistani-Indian rivalry, has thus been rebuffed by the agreement of the two leaders to meet and talk things over.

The loose-lung coterie of the Commonwealth has always shied away from any secretariat or seeming central control of Commonwealth affairs, but the lingering conflict between Pakistan and India points to the need of some continuing agency whereby the Commonwealth might create among its members the closer liaison needed to maintain its position as a grouping of states subscribing to unified concepts and thus able to strengthen its influence for its own protection.

A sort of little UN, with Commonwealth members in regular touch by accredited representatives, would more easily resolve these "family" differences and prevent the dilution of Commonwealth ties which rivalry such as that between India and Pakistan presents.

Placing the Blame

THE CANADIAN delegation to the recent North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris has returned home to face a barrage of criticism directed at both the personal behavior abroad of some of its members and the general incompetence of the group as a whole.

The first charge—which relates to the conduct of the individual members—can, if it is untrue, be easily and quickly refuted. But the condemnation implicit in the second is a different matter and it is unlikely that members of the delegation will even attempt to deny it.

And there is no reason why they should, for the blame does not rest with them. If the Canadian party was sent to Europe ignorant of NATO affairs, the fault lies with the government for failing to brief them sufficiently.

Reports from Ottawa Friday indicate that the pre-trip briefing consisted of delegates being given a handful of pamphlets describing NATO and a one-hour lecture on how to behave themselves in Europe.

Once in Paris the delegates discovered their own inadequacies as they found themselves rubbing shoulders with experienced and well-informed representatives of other NATO countries. Obviously they could not—and did not—acquit themselves well in such a company of experts.

The whole affair underlines the need of some thought being given to revising the present system of sending Parliamentary delegations overseas. In many cases such trips are looked upon as nothing more than rewarding junkies for party favorites, the choice of the members being left entirely to the leaders of the several national political organizations.

Thus some of the blame for this latest debacle should fall upon all national party leaders. But the lion's share must still go to the government, whose duty it is to put each and every delegate fully into the picture regardless of his or her political affiliation.

Clearly this was not done for the NATO group, and the result of the oversight has not only brought embarrassment upon the delegates but made Canada a laughing stock in Europe.

Kissing Cousins

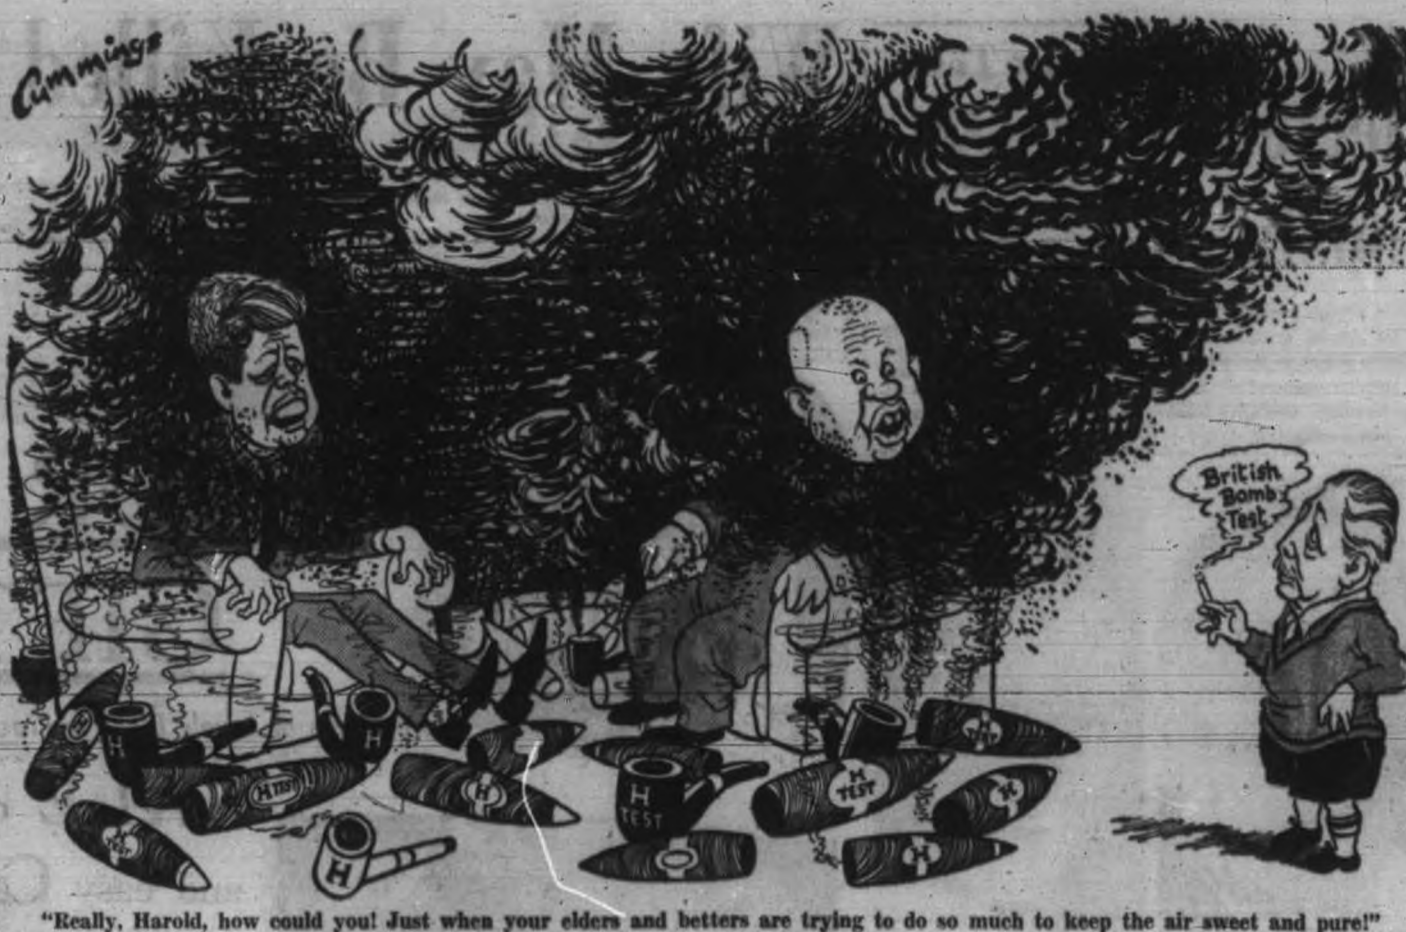

SASKATCHEWAN Liberals have given their national leader, Mr. Lester Pearson, a clear warning to halt the federal party's swing to the left.

The blunt admonishment was delivered to him during the Saskatchewan Liberal convention held this week in Saskatoon, and the first to speak his mind on the matter was provincial Grit leader Ross Thatcher, who said: "I am convinced that Saskatchewan Liberals want no truck or trade with the Socialists for the sake of political expediency. Our position is quite clear. I hope the national caucus realizes how we stand on this subject."

Not to be outdone by Mr. Thatcher, whose words cannot be interpreted other than as an open criticism of Mr. Pearson's recent gyrations in the House of Commons, some of the 864 convention delegates expressed the hope that the federal Liberals would not adopt left-wing political policies in an attempt to neutralize the Socialist parties.

However, as justified and sincere as their concern may be, they have delayed for far too long in voicing it.

It would have been far better and may have accomplished more had they sounded their opinion some two years ago at the time when Mr. Pearson and his national party cohorts chose to abandon Liberal principles and ideals in favor of a policy which if not closely relating the Grits to socialism made them at least kissing cousins.

"Really, Harold, how could you! Just when your elders and betters are trying to do so much to keep the air sweet and pure!"

'Ethnic'

Badly Bent

By LEON KOSSAR

PERHAPS no other expression since the much-maligned term displaced person or DP has been so badly bent out of shape as that of ethnic or ethnic groups.

A sort of wholesale misuse of the term has come about in the past few years, encouraged by news media and promotion people—and through power of suggestion, by some officials in our local language communities.

What used to be a fitting sociological term to denote people of common cultural and racial traits has been distorted, somehow converted into an expression meaning groups or individuals of non-Anglo-Saxon or non-French origin.

"Ethnic" became a new word, a corruption of the quite proper phrase ethnic group. What we're now hearing said is this: if you're not of English or French background—you're ethnic.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Webster's describes ethnic as "designating groups of races of mankind discriminated on the basis of common customs and characters."

Ethnology is a science describing the division of mankind into races, origins and distributions, while ethnography is that branch of anthropology dealing with the "origin and filiation of races and nations."

Everyone, therefore, belongs to an ethnic group, in the strict use of the term.

Not so to many of our promotion and publicity boys, not to mention quite a few politicians who aren't too familiar with the problems of language groups.

They began to make a big new thing of the word ethnic. It even began to rub off on people in these national groups.

You began to hear such phrases as "ethnic people" or "ethnic gatherings," as if there really were such anomalies. Because the word became so grossly misused, more legitimate claims on it, such as the one by the ethnic press (representing publications in all languages), began to suffer.

As one Canadian-born editor of a foreign language newspaper told me, "I've been called a lot of things in my day; an immigrant in the 1930s, a DP in the 1940s, a New Canadian in the 1950s, and an 'ethnic' in the 1960s."

"I guess New Canadian was the most complimentary of them all—although I was born here like any other Canadian."

New Canadian may fit when you first set foot on Canadian soil.

But when do you stop being a New Canadian? Is there a line of demarcation between "new" and "old" Canadian?

Ethnic was misused. For you can be a Canadian of Scottish ethnic derivation, German, Rumanian, or what you will.

But you're not an ethnic as opposed to an Anglo-Saxon.

That's what the expression has become to many people in the news media: an all-encompassing term to denote groups of European, Asian or stocks other than our official two.

You read of "ethnic leaders" saying this, and "ethnics" doing that. Let's get back to the proper use of the term—or better still—let's call immigrants immigrants: national, language, or folk groups, just that; or simply refer to a person's background as Canadian of Flemish, French or whatever it may be; stock, or origin, or derivation.

In Southern Rhodesia

Dropping Racial Barriers

By JACK HALPERN from Salisbury

AN African member of the Rhodesian Federal Parliament stopped in a small town between Bulawayo and Salisbury for refreshment. At one cafe he was told that Africans were not served; at a second he was directed to the rear door where, amid garbage and empty bottles, he was sold some sandwiches. The MP was tempted to walk away but, as he said, "hunger overcame pride."

If Sir Edgar Whitehead's ruling United Federal Party, to which the MP belongs, wins the Southern Rhodesian general election on December 14, Africans will be able to demand service in any cafe, hotel, cinema and restaurant. The MP was returning from the party's pre-election congress where the UFP approved, without a single dissenting vote, a resolution to outlaw racial discrimination in public places. Moreover, the UFP is also committed to open up land for purchase to members of all groups; racial zones formerly prevented this.

Considering the situation here and especially the past record of the UFP, these were significant resolutions. The UFP has been, and is, the party of the white Rhodesian establishment, yet in Bulawayo one-third of the 450 delegates were Africans. The UFP has, moreover, committed itself to these measures when preliminary election skirmishes have shown a hardening of white attitudes, especially in the rural areas.

Southern Rhodesia's electorate is overwhelmingly white, though Africans outnumber whites by 13 to one. The new constitution, which came into effect on November 1, provides for 15 African seats in a Parliament of 65.

The new legislation will also end the dispute about non-racial swimming baths. Some Salisbury, rural and local authorities have closed their baths rather than admit Africans.

The outlawing of public discrimination undoubtedly represents a major concession in the view of many whites and the UFP may well lose many votes. Some whites feel that each concession only stimulates fresh demands, and are bitter that the Zimbabwe African People's Union, now banned, rejected the new constitution. This happened when the swimming bath controversy was at its height and Mr. Joseph Nkomo, the NAPU president, summed up his party's attitude with: "We don't want to swim with you."

Yet the psychological effect of these formal freedoms could have a great effect. A white liberal woman had to take two African teachers all the way to Salisbury to convince them that hotels there did admit Africans. The hotel in their rural centre did not, and still does not, but it will be compelled to if the law is changed.

Education, however, will remain separate and, except for certain fifth- and sixth-form classes, will maintain grossly unequal standards. More important, however, may be the effect of affirming an African's dignity whilst still denying him the vote. Some sociologists foresee an increase of African nationalist militancy as a result of the new concessions, and the UFP, though its leaders had the backing of the congress, may find themselves faced with dangerously strong white resistance to their policies.

If Sir Edgar Whitehead wins the elections, it will mark an advance in thinking which, by white standards, is remarkable, even if Africa and the world judge it "too little and too late." This is the tragedy of white Southern Rhodesians. In their own eyes they are making fantastic concessions, but in Africa today time has run out.

It is here that American policy comes up against the paradox of Adenauer's policy. Policy-makers here have strongly resented the intimation out of Bonn from time to time that Washington will not stand up to the Soviet threat in Berlin and that the Kennedy administration is too ready to negotiate concessions to Moscow.

This has come while U.S. Secretary of Defence Robert S. McNamara has been rapidly pressing the buildup of America's conventional forces, so that aggression can be met by means other than all-out nuclear war. Five full-strength American divisions are maintained in Germany. At the same time McNamara has been urging Germany, Britain and France to increase their conventional forces more rapidly. This effort has been largely in vain.

It reports out of Bonn can be credited, Strauss believes that the German divisions must have tactical nuclear weapons and therefore he would not be too concerned over the poor showing of forces in manoeuvres without such weapons. France maintains one and a half under-strength divisions with Second World War equipment in Germany. The French drive to build an independent national nuclear deterrent is so costly that little is left for the conventional forces.

Accentuating the German paradox is the fact that while Adenauer, Strauss and others talk hard, the trade between West Germany and the Communist bloc has steadily increased in marked contrast with the restraints put on American traders. The two-way trade between West and East Germany is at an annual volume of $500,000,000. The big contracts which Krupp and other Rhineland industrialists negotiated in Moscow in 1958 have meant a rapid rise in exports to the Soviet Union. Germany is buying more than 2,000,000 tons of Soviet oil a year.

The hard line may be a useful political device inside Germany. But the status of the Western alliance and the strains put on it call for something more.

One Objection to Women

By SHAUN HERRON

I HAVE few objections to women. Indeed in certain respects I regard them highly and enjoy them enormously. A catalogue of these respects would take considerable space, but when I review my objections I find it difficult to get beyond my first. On the basis of very little research, I suspect that this one objection has the validity of a universal.

All married men know it. All single men who intend to marry will come to know it. Let me state it as a question, for any positive statement of the case tends to lead one into offensive emphasis:

Why do women always clean the house before the cleaning woman comes to clean it?

It isn't a mere matter of wasting a woman's time and energy. If she didn't clean the house before the woman got here, she would be busy any way, so the house cleaning eliminates all possibility of a rest day, extends her man-hours and keeps alive the image of patient drudgery.

There are 12 notches on my desk—repentant acknowledgements of the sin of evil intent—for the 12 times I have wanted to murder her for telling me about her son who is a "United Church minister and hasn't spoken to us for 15 years—on account of his position, you know." There ought to be 24 notches on my desk for I always want to murder the son as well. Why doesn't the persistent speak to his mother and let me get on with my work?

This feminine folly can lead to quite serious complications. My Local Authority has a motherly concern for anyone who is being paid to do any work for her; the professional packers employed by our furniture removal company, for example.

Among the items to be packed are about four thousand books and of course nobody denies that books gather dust. They have been cared for with some measure of tenderness. Why it should be necessary to dust them again before the packers come to put them in cartons I am not clear, but it was determined that this was imperative. The shelves on which they rest reach to the ceiling and to achieve the higher levels of learning a pair of those little step ladders—oh—whistle—necessary. These in due season my Local Authority employed, working each evening from top to bottom.

And it came to pass that a noisy fellow who is always curious about my movements drove his Cadillac around our Circle and paused outside my library window. There groveling in the upper shelves was Old Mother Conscience herself, the cleanest woman in Christendom, and large gaps on the shelves were visible from the street.

You may suppose that it is only in Gopherton Dip, Saskatchewan, that the telephone is the first enemy of truth, allied to the instantaneous reflection of the party line listener. Believe it not: English Canada's leading metropolis, Toronto, has nothing to learn from the Gopherton Dippers. The Cadillac swept home and the little man hastened to his phone.

"He's leaving," said the little man. "He's packing. He has half his books packed already."

I heard the news the next day from five of the municipalities in Metropolitan Toronto. By Sunday I had heard it 50 times and as I shook hands with the departing multitude after Sunday morning service each of them—well, almost all of them—told me how sad the news was.

"But where are you going?" The unwritten law of the telephone tattler is: If you don't know the answer, invent it.

There was at once a man who saw my car in Halifax this past summer. There was a man who saw my car in Winnipeg this past summer. I have not been in Halifax since 1959 or in Winnipeg since February, 1961. But what's the difference? I had been seen with my whole family in Chicago this summer (last visit 1956). But nobody saw us where we really were this summer, in Brighton, Ontario, and in Boston, Mass.

Quite suddenly the conflict was resolved. A particularly talkative woman told me she wanted it "straight." I said: "I'm going to Halifax, Winnipeg and Chicago but it had to be one of them: 'Now which one is it? I'm dying to know.'"

Gently I told her that I had particularly wanted her of all women to know: "I am going. I said with the largest smile I could grind out, 'to be evangelist to the race track at Winnipeg.' The smile of course covers me on the question of veracity.

"He let it drop," she phoned around, "he's going to Winnipeg to preach at the race tracks. You know—like Packman in the Toronto pubs."

We had a constant stream of callers to check on the packing, but the books were all in place, as well dusted as a teenage nose. It made no difference. The mystery was solved and the prairie oddsmakers were already trembling at the prospect of righteousness descending upon them like a series of long odds winners. "You have the voice for it," they said to me next Sunday.

The moral is obvious. If your wife is one of these pre-cleaning dusters—and if she's really your wife of course she's one of them, for the affliction comes with the licence—look out for your reputation. When the cleaning woman goes to the house down the street she says of you: "That poor fish up the street has to take his shoes off on the door step. He's really rag ridden. You could eat off the floor."

The neighbor's don't know that your house is filthy till the day before the cleaner comes.

The Bible—New Testament—requires a man to be master in his own household. Is there a martyr in the house?

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

President Franklin Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Russia's Joseph Stalin concluded their meeting in Teheran, Iran, at which they reached agreement on the scope and timing of operations to smash the German armies in the Second World War 19 years ago today—in 1943. The allied leaders also planned a peace era in which all nations would be invited to join a "world family of democratic nations."

1958—A school fire in Chicago claimed the lives of 89 children and three nuns.

1969—The vast Hudson Bay Company territory was officially transferred from the Hudson's Bay Company to the Canadian government.

Washington Calling

German Paradox

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE rules of the game of representative government in West Germany are so fouled up that probably even Chancellor Adenauer himself would be hard-pressed to say whether he is going to be able to quiet the strife among the warring political tribes and restore a stable regime.

It began with the attempt of the Adenauer government to suppress the news magazine Der Spiegel by arbitrary arrest of the editors and sealing of the Spiegel offices. The offence of Der Spiegel (The Mirror) was publication of the contents of an alleged top-secret document showing the grave weaknesses of the West German divisions in the NATO exercise, Fallex-62.

For Franz Josef Strauss, Adenauer's minister of defence, this was renewal of attack by an old enemy. Der Spiegel and Strauss, a vigorous and unrelenting foe, have conducted a lengthy feud. While at first denying any part in the action, Strauss later admitted that he had personally telephoned Madrid to insure the arrest of the reporter who wrote the article and who was on vacation there. This seemed to underscore his close relationship with the Franco dictatorship, which had come to light when Strauss initiated secret negotiations for German training bases in Spain.

To give him a free hand in forming a new government after the Spiegel explosion Adenauer accepted the resignation of all his ministers, including the Free Democrats on whose support the coalition depends. The theory was that a new government would be formed with the troublesome Strauss eliminated.

Contrary to first reports, based on what was apparently a superficial sampling of opinion, many Germans have been deeply disturbed by what is happening. Most of the press, students in many university centres as well as numerous citizens in letters to the newspapers have expressed their disgust and their concern for freedom of expression. The haunting fear of a return of the old authoritarianism is reflected in much of the protest.

What has been scarcely touched on is the substance of Der Spiegel's allegations—that the West German forces were shown to be woefully unready in almost every department. The government has not denied the charge, merely saying that if the "facts" as printed in Der Spiegel were proved to be true then publication would be run out.

It is here that American policy comes up against the paradox of Adenauer's policy. Policy-makers here have strongly resented the intimation out of Bonn from time to time that Washington will not stand up to the Soviet threat in Berlin and that the Kennedy administration is too ready to negotiate concessions to Moscow.

This has come while U.S. Secretary of Defence Robert S. McNamara has been rapidly pressing the buildup of America's conventional forces, so that aggression can be met by means other than all-out nuclear war. Five full-strength American divisions are maintained in Germany. At the same time McNamara has been urging Germany, Britain and France to increase their conventional forces more rapidly. This effort has been largely in vain.

It reports out of Bonn can be credited, Strauss believes that the German divisions must have tactical nuclear weapons and therefore he would not be too concerned over the poor showing of forces in manoeuvres without such weapons. France maintains one and a half under-strength divisions with Second World War equipment in Germany. Political Slush Fund Unclaimed

VANCOUVER (CP) — A retired businessman charged with income tax evasion testified Friday a $50,000 political slush fund lies in trust here with no one claiming it.

Allan S. Gentles said it is the balance of a fund of $78,000 he administered for a Montreal steel importing firm that had sold rails to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. The Crown has charged in magistrate's court the money is income to Gentles as his share of the sale of the British-produced rails by H. M. Long Ltd. of Montreal.

Gentles said the money is in Dominion of Canada bonds. He said he did not own them and does not know who the owner might be.

He said he had made three payments totalling $28,000 in the last four years, but declined to identify the recipients.

"Perhaps the political parties in this province would be greatly interested," Magistrate W. H. Brown asked. "Yes, I think they might," replied Gentles.

Gentles said he refused when H. M. Long asked him in January, 1950, to "assist him" in handling some political funds in B.C.

"About three months later in Montreal, he said he would have a number of bonds to transmit here," Gentles said. "I agreed to handle them."

Coalition Now Possible Strauss Quits Bonn Cabinet

BONN (UPI) — Controversial Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss, 67, bowed out of the cabinet Friday to enable Chancellor Adenauer to form a new coalition cabinet with the Free Democratic Party which had demanded his ouster.

The crisis, worst in Adenauer's 13 years as chancellor, began a month ago. All five Free Democratic cabinet ministers resigned. The remaining members, including Strauss, handed in their resignations but Adenauer kept them on as a caretaker government.

COULD NOT SERVE

A statement issued through his supporters in Munich, home of Strauss' Bavarian branch of Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party, said he could not serve in the new government now being negotiated because of the opposition by the Free Democrats.

SOLVED CRISIS

The victory for the Free Democrats went far to solve a serious government crisis which was touched off by the Der Spiegel news magazine case. The Free Democrats said Strauss ordered the arrest of the editors without informing the Free Democrat minister of justice.

SOS in Storm Ship's Slipup

VANCOUVER (CP) — The captain of a New Zealand freighter said Friday an SOS his ship sent out in Thursday night's storm was a mistake.

Seconds after the distress signal was received at the Victoria wireless station at Gordon Head, back came another message: "S O S — Sorry Our Slipup." The message was sent from the 10,270-ton freighter Waitangi, as she battled 16-foot waves in the strait of Juan de Fuca.

Capt. Frank Gibson said in Vancouver Friday: "The signal was a mistake. I cancelled it almost immediately after it was sent." Capt. Gibson said: "It was routine storm trouble. That's all. The ship was not damaged."

$74,999 Pay Cut For Gordon?

OTTAWA (CP) — A bill is being introduced in Parliament to cut CNE President Donald Gordon's salary to $1 a year. His salary now is $75,000 a year.

Notice of the bill was given in the Commons Journals Friday by Noel Cross, deputy national leader of the Social Credit party.

Big Storm Packed All-in-One Punch

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thursday's storm had everything in one punch. It brought five inches of snow to parts of the Vancouver area, knocked out power lines, caused rush-hour traffic chaos, and caused a tug to sink.

Before it passed on into the interior, dropping heavy snow on the way, two men had died of heart attacks.

ONLY CARRIER — During the storm one CPR ferry was the only carrier plying between Vancouver Island and the mainland, and it was running 30 minutes late as it bucked heavy seas in the Gulf of Georgia.

Vancouver — Victoria flights were cancelled by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The $40,000 tug Swiftsure 6, owned by Swiftsure Towing Co., sank in the Fraser River in high winds.

B.C. Hydro and Power Authority officials said the damage caused to power lines was second only to the havoc caused by Typhoon Freda last month.

When it passed on into the interior, dropping heavy snow on the way, two men had died of heart attacks.

More than 300 linemen worked through the night in current hundreds of power disruptions.

LINE BROKEN — A section of Vancouver Harbour was sealed off to marine traffic when a power line stretching across the harbor broke.

One man died of a heart attack in traffic while another died on a ferry crossing nearby Howe Sound.

Kidnap-Extortion Plot Brings Three Arrests

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police Friday arrested the man they believe originated a kidnap-extortion plot against a Vancouver businessman.

It was the third arrest in two days as police followed a tip from intended victim Alex Warner, owner of Pine Dry Cleaners Limited.

One man was picked up Thursday in a stakeout at the dry-cleaning plant and another in a skid road hotel.

No charges have been laid so far. Warner said he got a telephone call at his plant Thursday afternoon from a man who said he was involved in a plot to kidnap Warner's six-year-old son Ronald.

He offered to give Warner all the details in return for enough money to get to Toronto. Warner arranged for a meeting at the plant and then told police.

Their Own Bosses Now

Handicapped Pair Running Store

Two handicapped former employees of Goodwill Enterprises are now experiencing the challenge and difficulties of being their own bosses.

For the past month they have operated the cozy Kavan Grocery and Confectionery store at the corner of Dunlevy and Estevan in Oak Bay. Business has been slower than they would like.

But it's that season of the year, says Lloyd Duke, who about a month ago saw the business advertised for sale and suggested to Molly Patrick that they operate it together. The two met at Goodwill, where Mr. Duke worked for about 4½ years and Miss Patrick for some 3½, and where, although they have nothing but praise for the institution, they frankly say they were anxious to make a go of it on their own.

Mr. Duke has been scanning the newspapers for the sort of opportunity he had in mind.

When he discovered the Estevan Grocery, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Guest, 2328 Musgrave, was up for sale and began looking for a partner, he found that working regular hours rag-cutting was not Miss Patrick's cup of tea.

Their new business is a neighborhood grocery of the old school with canned goods and other wares stacked floor to ceiling wherever you look.

Premier Favors Friday

Premier Bennett, in a letter yesterday to J. A. Moore, president of regional council No. 1, International Woodworkers of America, AFL-CIO-CLC, suggested a meeting at 11 a.m. next Friday.

"I feel that the meeting should just be between you as head of the largest union in British Columbia, and myself," the letter read.

Mr. Moore had requested the meeting with the premier, in a letter Wednesday, with a view to finding a solution to B.C.'s labor problems.

OWN PROPERTY

"Perhaps it is as well to note that the Junior Chamber of Commerce membership contains more property owners in the municipality of Saanich than all other municipalities combined."

The Jaycee-sponsored all-candidate forum scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at Lansdowne Junior High School will be modified to a public debate on the amalgamation question, with equal time to be given to both sides of the argument, Mr. Charman said.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on a subject of general interest, and must be 200 words in length, and if signed with a pen-name must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

It is regrettable that neither documentary declarations nor tape recordings are available for the professors at UBC in their lectures to students with reference to James Christ.

However, many taxpayers in B.C. will feel that university students ought to be fully occupied in lines of study that will fit them for useful works in this province, and the majority of these taxpayers reject the Communist saying that religion is the working man's opium. Perhaps a few of these UBC lecturers would be excellent material for exchange duties with some Communist university.

The undersigned, like most writers, usually prefers to ignore anonymous letters, but is currently in receipt of one signed only "Reader," which, oddly enough, complains not about what was written in a recent biographical article in The Islander, but about what was not written.

I should merely like to take this opportunity to say, therefore, to my timid and apparently homeless correspondent, that my contributions to The Islander, where they deal with the private lives of living people, are submitted to them for approval before publication. It is entirely their own prerogative to decide the details they wish included or withheld.

B.C. Forest Records A Big Gain

TORONTO (CP) — Several industries' features highlighted an otherwise dull session on the stock market Friday.

Stedman Bros., retail chain store operators, saw its stock jump to a year's peak of 17, then ease to 16 1/2 for a gain of 1 1/2.

The company has received an anonymous takeover bid amounting to $17.50 each for 500,000 shares. Stedman officials have urged that shareholders reject the bid.

BC Forest, on a turnover topping 69,000 shares, climbed to 14 1/2, up 1/2. Earlier it touched a 1962 high of 15.

Elsewhere in the main list, Abitibi dropped 1/2, Interprovincial Pipe Line one point, Imperial Oil 1/2 and Aluminum 1/2.

Among base metals, gains of 1/2 went to Falconbridge, Noranda, International Nickel and Consolidated Mining and Smelting. Hudson Bay Mining advanced 1/2, while Denison and Rio Algom both fell 1/2.

In western oils, Home A and B both declined 1/2.

Banks Advance

MONTREAL (CP) — Bank of Montreal rose 1/2, to 64 1/2, Nova Scotia 1/2, to 72, Imperial Commerce 1/2, to 63 1/2, and the Royal 1/2, to 77 1/2.

Western oils showed losses. Central Del Rio falling 10 cents to 82 1/2, Pacific Petroleum 1/2, to 63 1/2, and Canadian Husky 1/2, to 63 1/2.

Papers were mixed. Fraser rose 1/2 to 36 and Price 1/2 to 36 1/2, while Macmillan fell 1/2 to 18 1/2 and Consolidated 1/2 to 39 1/2.

Hudson Bay Company fell 1/2 to 11 1/2 among losers.

In mines, Jubilee rose 35 cents to $3.10.

Pace Slackens

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market experienced what the experts call a correction. However, the price decline, as the public calls it, failed to amount to much.

Most losses of key issues were fractional and modest, although below the speedy pace of the last week, was still ahead of the average for the year to date.

Numerous stocks were up a point or two.

Key issues in particular, the major sections of the market finished lower. One exception was the airlines, which showed mostly small gains, although Delta jumped 2 1/2 on a late report and Northwest Airlines was up 1 1/2.

CPR Studies Tenders For Ship Job

Bids for the conversion of the CPR steamer Princess Patricia into a luxury Alaska cruise ship are still under consideration, according to CPR vice-president and general manager, Pacific region, J. N. Fraine.

Tenders have been invited from Yarrows Ltd. and Victoria Machinery Depot of Victoria, and Burrard Dry Dock Ltd., North Vancouver, Mr. Fraine said.

The bids were opened this week "with representatives from all three shipyards present," Mr. Fraine said from Vancouver. "We did preliminary questioning."

Night Spot Packed

Sharp at 9:30 last night, the doors of Victoria's latest night spot were opened to the public.

This was the Coachman's Inn at 914 Gordon Street, project and creation of Victoria's Irene Henderson, and her husband, Keith.

The Inn was packed with customers last night and the same situation promises for this evening.

Shotguns, powder horns, lanterns and hunting prints adorn the walls and perhaps the greatest decorative achievement is a solid mile of wood beams hand-axed by Mr. Henderson.

The Inn stages dances with Jack Lenaghan's orchestra, a were the Hometowners, Arthur floor show every Friday and Budd, Al Denoni, Howard Saturday and is available for Rood, Jerry Gosley and the all-types of parties and banquets from Lancashire herself. Also featured tonight will be Supplying the entertainment the Wayward Trio.

Students Successful In Difficult Vehicle

By BERT BINNY

Victoria High School students selected a difficult piece of work when they decided to produce Josephine Fay's Richard of Bordeaux which opened last night.

It is immensely talky. It is possible—and at one or two points this was actually achieved—to present characters as if they were waxworks with talking machines concealed somewhere about them.

DEPENDS ON EFFECTS

It depends for its effects on delicate shadings of characterization; every clue to what sort of a person anyone is comes from their voice and not their actions. To achieve success in this kind of a play is the hardest thing in the world to do.

SUCCESS ACHIEVED

Thus the degree of success—which last night's success was doubly meritorious. They were well led by Timothy Vernon as Richard and he did provide a brilliant characterization by making the most of vocal inflections, dynamic variations and telling gesture.

GOOD SUPPORT

His best support came from Suzanne Dericks as Queen Anne, Richard Slater as the Duke of Gloucester, Bill Williamson as the Earl of Arundel and Dayrell Short as Robert de Vere.

The production was well set—and there were 12 scenes—with special effects by the school's Fine Arts Club. The costumes were all good.

Direction was by Bert Farr and James Dalmage. In this department upstaging was a bit too frequent but, for the most part, it was entirely adequate.

The play goes on again at 8:15 this evening in Victoria High School auditorium.

Alderman Praised

Juvenile Home Job Given To Low Bidder

Ald. Lily Wilson saw her dream of a new juvenile detention home for Greater Victoria come within reach yesterday after delays lasting many months.

After city council approved the award of the contract for the home, Ald. Wilson said: "This is the first capital expenditure to which all the municipalities in Greater Victoria have agreed. I regard it as a very happy state of progress."

GOES TO SHOW

Mayor R. B. Wilson paid tribute to her "determined efforts" aimed at getting a new juvenile detention home to replace the present inadequate facilities. He said the success of the venture "shows what a woman can do."

Ald. Wilson warned, however, the city and municipalities would have to work fast to get special powers required for the joint agreement before the Christmas vacation period takes government leaders out of town.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

City council approved award of the contract to M. P. Faine Ltd., which submitted the low bid of $83,322. Additional costs to be shared by the four municipalities include $3,000 for design plus $1,000 for supervision as the work is carried out.

Ald. Michael Griffin, who earlier had drawn to council's attention a mixup involving some sub-contractors' bids, said the job should go to the low bidder.

HONEST MISTAKE

"What happened was an honest mistake which in no way reflects on the integrity of any of the contractors involved," he said. "The Victoria Bid Depository has had several meetings on this subject in the past few days and it is changing the rules so this will never happen again."

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady said that, since the new Municipal Act contains no provision from municipalities wishing to join for the purpose of building a juvenile detention home, the cabinet must be petitioned to grant special powers.

The city's petition is ready for submission and copies have to be sent to the solicitors for the other councils involved.

Victoria will ask Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt to take similar steps.

Crime Linked To Lack Of Discipline

VANCOUVER — A retired senior RAF officer and eye surgeon Friday linked the rate of alcoholism, drug addiction and crime in Canada to lack of discipline and correction in its schools.

Air Marshal Sir Philip Livingston of Qualicum told a provincial conference of the Community Planning Association of Canada:

"It would seem unarguable that the young demand correction, unpalatable though this may be to the psychology-astounded teaching staffs. It is of vital importance to Canada that all be taught the broad principles guiding right from wrong."

"If we do not grapple with these problems, we will part from the very freedom we so loudly extol."

Countless hours are spent training horses, dogs and other animals to perform, but precious few to training the infant and adolescent to find happiness, he said.

Air Marshal Livingston said he has found "egoism and complacency" among Canadian youth, and little attempt to stress belief in leadership, loyalty and love of country.

He termed "miserable disclosures" statistics showing 218,000 chronic alcoholics, 3,000 drug addicts and 93.7 per cent of criminals detained in our penitentiaries "Canadian subjects by birth."

His recommendations included:

- Kindergarten schools to teach children to read simple books at six.
- Games masters or instructors to organize play and develop team spirit.

Turn Drinker Blue Suggests Seminar

EDMONTON (CP) — An ingredient ought to be added to liquor which would cause the drinker to turn blue after the third drink.

This was one of several suggestions made by workers from various city agencies at a recent seminar on alcoholism.

Other solutions suggested to help prevent alcoholism before it started included:

Modification of laws to allow teenagers to consume liquor at 18, making it less attractive when not a forbidden act;

Research into chemical aspects of alcohol with an eye to discovering something in human chemistry which could warn potential problem drinkers; and

Introduction of other activities at places where liquor was sold.

Nostalgic Naval Search

Past Silverware Sought For New Saskatchewan

SIR PHILIP LIVINGSTON
... 'vital importance'

A nostalgic search has been from naval ships, being done the past, with the first Canadian commissioned.

The commanding officer (designate) of the new Saskatchewan, Cmdr. Mark Mayo, and his fellow officers, hope their new destroyer-escort will acquire some of these historical silverware items. They would serve as a link with local 78.

Nearly 18 years ago the RCN's first Saskatchewan was paid off after service throughout the Second World War.

Among the various wardrobe and mess articles carried by the destroyer were silver trays, bowls, cigarette boxes — all received by the ship as gifts at the time of her first commissioning. Most of these pieces bore appropriate engravings.

It is assumed that, at the time of the ship's final paying-off, the silverware was sold, raffled or auctioned, with proceeds going to some worthy charity, a traditional custom with funds.

Central Saanich Hears Reasons for New Hall

Need for a new $40,800

municipal hall in Central

Saanich was outlined by Reeve

R. Gordon Lee at a ratepayers' meeting in Mount Newton

High School last night.

He pointed out the single alternative would be spending from $15,000 to $18,000 to expand and modernize the present hall on East Saanich Road.

"This would leave no room on the property for future expansion," he said.

He said the present hall was inadequate to handle the increasing work load.

Reeve Lee told the meeting

he believed natural increase in taxes in the expanding municipality and some economy cuts would offset interest charges on bonds needed to finance the project.

If approved by ratepayers on Dec. 6, actual construction of the building will not begin until October, 1963.

Sect Move Here

From Hope Likely

HOPE (CP)—Village Chairman Paul Scherle said Friday

he has been advised his plan to carry Sons of Freedom

Doukhobors to the legislature lawn in Victoria "couldn't get me into trouble."

Mr. Scherle asked for a lawyer's advice about the move following warnings about the possibility of disease and fire at the sect's temporary campsite here.

"They couldn't arrest me for it..."

"I figure on moving about Tuesday."

He said he has found the cost of chartering a 45-passenger bus in Victoria will be

$251, and several Hope residents have offered to help him foot the bill.

The Freedomites had told him they do not intend to return to their Kootenay homes.

Employed Man Fined $75 For Insurance Fund Fraud

A Saanich man who defrauded the Unemployment Insurance Commission out of three weekly payments of $17 each was fined a total of $75 in city police court yesterday.

Carl Tibbetts, 600 McKenzie, pleaded guilty to the three charges that he made false representations to the UIC.

G. V. Eaton, prosecuting, told Magistrate William Ostler that Tibbetts obtained the three payments after claiming he was unable to obtain employment.

"He was fully employed and earned $100.32 in the three-week period," Mr. Eaton said.

"There seems to be no idea that as this is a public fund it is all right to defraud it," Magistrate Ostler told Tibbetts.

"It is as serious to defraud a public fund as any other. It is a serious matter."

Tibbetts was fined $25 on each of the three charges.

A celebration over a shipmate's promotion landed sailor David G. White, 20, of HMCS Fraser, in police court.

White pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a car without the consent of the owner—Morrison Motors. City prosecutor Angus Smith told Magistrate Ostler that White took a car from the company's lot and was stopped by police in Saanich and questioned.

The sailor was not held by Saanich police and returned the car to the company's lot. He was later stopped again in Saanich, driving a different car, by the same police who became suspicious.

"What happened to you?"

Was yesterday pay day?" Magistrate Ostler asked White.

"We celebrated yesterday," White said. "One of the lads got promoted yesterday."

"It turned out to be a pretty good celebration, didn't it?" Magistrate Ostler commented.

He fined White $75 for the offence.

George Vaux, no fixed address, admitted cashing a forged cheque.

"City prosecutor Angus Smith told the court Vaux had a number of prior convictions for similar offences and added there might be a second similar charge laid against Vaux."

"When you can not get money any other way you resort to crime," Magistrate Ostler told Vaux as he remanded the case until Monday morning.

Magistrate Ostler blamed erratic conduct for the appearance of Russell W. Pearce, 1319 1/2 Broad, in city police court.

Pearce appeared Tuesday, charged with creating a disturbance in a public place and admitted the offence.

The court was told he disrupted classes in a Broad Street dancing studio and struggled with police.

"I am sure it started out as a matter of curiosity on your part and there is nothing wrong with that," Magistrate Ostler told the young man.

"You are an intelligent person and you can not go around exhibiting this erratic conduct. The fact that you don't realize that conduct is erratic is your real difficulty."

Pearce was released on a $100 bond to be of good behavior for six months.

In Oak Bay police court yesterday Marjorie Dickson, 2135 McLaren Avenue, was fined $2.50 for failing to obtain a dog licence for the current year.

Two Victoria men, William Charles Browett and Preben Kaasveng, were each fined $50 in Colwood RCMP court yesterday for carrying loaded firearms in vehicles.

Widow's Will

Fortune
For 'Army'

By DON MATHERSON

Victoria citadel of the Salvation Army has been left more than $186,000 by a 91-year-old widow who was the Empress Hotel's longest resident.

The tall and gracious Mrs. Florence Slocum French lived at the Empress 42 years before her death Sept. 25.

NET RESIDUE

She left a net estate of $215,113, mostly in "blue chip" stocks and bonds. After $45,000 in bequests to individuals, the net residue of $169,563.04 is to go to the Salvation Army. The money is to be "used for such charitable purposes as the said Salvation Army thinks best," her will, probated yesterday, directs. It adds a simple receipt from the Army is all that's required.

ELECTRIC CAR

Mrs. French was a familiar figure in Victoria some 20 years ago when she drove the streets in an electric motorcar with a six-mile-an-hour maximum speed.

The "brougham" was sold to a collector several years ago.

A woman with a quiet, retiring disposition, Mrs. French was the widow of Cecil French, a veterinarian, manufacturer, soldier and big game hunter who died in 1951.

ACQUAINTANCES

The couple came to Victoria in 1920 and lived in the Empress from that time. Born in Montreal Feb. 9, 1871, Mrs. French left several bequests locally to acquaintances.

Included are Mrs. Gertrude Lamb, 1094 St. Patrick Street, cash, $10,000, $110 in furs and jewels; Misses Mary and Nan Martin, 853 Burdett Avenue, cash $5,000 and $20 in jewels.

OTHER BEQUESTS

George F. Alken, Sooke Post Office, $5,000 and $10 jewels; Mrs. Ellen Bottling, 4095 Tyndall, $5,000 and $125 jewels.

Mrs. V. M. Moore, 578 Dalhousie, $10,750 furs and jewels; Miss Jessie Peppers, c/o Empress Hotel, $17,500 jewels; Mrs. Elsie Allen, c/o Empress, $22,500 jewels.

Bequests of $20,000 went to Eastern Canada and $5,000 to West Germany.

A final provision of the will for cremation and scattering of ashes at sea was carried out earlier.

Police Seek
Molester

PORT ALBERNI — RCMP here are asking for information which might lead to the apprehension of a molester whose description was supplied by a local woman accused on a city street.

Police said the woman was threatened and her clothing was torn before she escaped after being accosted near the 10th Avenue North-RM at about 8 p.m. Monday.

Today's Safe Driving Tip

Start with Full Checkup
Local Motorists Urged

Drivers should mark the start of Safe Driving Week this morning by giving their cars a thorough checkup, George Lindsay, superintendent of motor vehicles, advised last night.

"Catch flaws before they become breakdowns," he said. "Do it at once."

'Be Five Minutes Late
Not 50 Years Early'

"It is better to be five minutes late arriving at one destination than to be 50 years too early at another."

This is the food-for-thought message from Rear-Admiral W. M. Langmore, flag officer, Pacific Coast, in inaugurating National Safe Driving Week today.

Santa Early for City's Dutch

Curly-haired tots last night confessed their tiny "sins" to Santa Claus, Henry Kuyvenhoven, while Black Peter, Jan Kruthof, holds "good book." Two hundred children turned up at First Christian Reformed Church, 661 Agnes, to whisper into Dutch Sint Nicolaas' ear after he asked them whether they behaved well. Dutch Santa goes out night before his birthday, Dec. 6, with his white horse, and helper Black Peter lowers gifts through chimneys. — (William A. Boucher)

High Credit Rating
Proven for Victoria

Excellence of Victoria's credit rating was amply demonstrated yesterday when tenders were received for the sale of debentures worth $1,115,000.

Acceptance of the highest offer, by Pemberton Securities Ltd. and syndicate, rallied by city council at a special meeting, will bring the city a premium "in excess of $20,000."

City manager C. C. Wyatt told council the bids received from 10 syndicates representing a total of 27 financial houses served to substantiate claims that Victoria was in excellent financial shape.

In the present bond market, the city manager added, many other Canadian municipalities have been forced to accept discount prices.

REFERENCE MADE
"That should answer the criticism voiced by some of our friends and neighbors," said finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell.

He was referring to attacks by anti-amalgamationists led by Coun. Joseph Casey of Saanich, who claimed the city is seeking union of the two municipalities to ease its own debt load.

SOLD RECENTLY

Mr. Wyatt said the basic strength of the city's financial position can be determined by studying the performance of other municipalities who have recently sold debentures.

The full amount of Victoria's $1,115,000 debenture issue is backed by downtown merchants. It bears a coupon rate of 5 1/2 per cent.

The accepted price of 101.816 per $100 bond cannot be directly compared with Burnaby's recent $983,000 debenture issue which brought in 98.27.

The city manager said, however, an alternate bid received by the city at a comparable 5 1/2 per cent coupon rate was for 99.12.

The city of Halifax recently floated a $1,500,000 debenture issue at a coupon rate of 5 1/2 per cent which was sold at a discount of 99.627.

'Lost' Boy

Police had no time finding seven-year-old James. Last, 1630 Viking, reported lost by a baby sitter last night.

The attending police officer had a brief look around the property, then decided to search the house. The "missing" boy was found sitting under his bed.

Dual Deluge Douses City

Double the normal amount of rainfall drenched Victoria during November.

Gonzales observatory last night reported a monthly figure of 7.23 inches compared with a normal 3.38 inches.

A snowfall of 0.3 inches brought the precipitation total to 7.26 inches but snowfall was 0.4 below the amount expected in November.

The average mean temperature was up 2.1 degrees with a reading of 67.0.

Average wind speed of 12.1 miles an hour was up 0.8 mile an hour.

There were 21 days of measurable rainfall during the month, up three from a normal November.

Hours of sunshine were down 9.5 with a mere 71.4 recorded.

Maximum temperature of 88.7 was recorded Nov. 19 with minimum of 35.8 Nov. 28 and a grand minimum of 28.2 recorded the same day.

Total hours of sunshine since Jan. 1 are 50.4 below normal, totalling 2,080.3.

Since the start of the year, 22.23 inches of rain has fallen, .11 inch less than normal.

Premises Deteriorated

Vote Backed by Casey
To Ensure New Hall

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Saanich council would "throw anyone in jail" who let conditions on his own premises deteriorate to the same state as council's own municipal quarters, Saanich Coun. Joseph Casey said last night.

He spoke at an all-candidate meeting sponsored by the Saanich Voters' Association, at which several candidates made an only mildly successful attempt to get other election issues aired before the amalgamation referendum.

VARIED SPEECHES

Features of last night's meeting included a report, relayed by candidate Don Mathison, on why the Victoria Chamber of Commerce stopped studying amalgamation, and a suggestion by amalgamation arch foe Leslie Passmore of one good reason to vote yes in the amalgamation referendum.

Candidates on both sides of the amalgamation fence spoke in favor of speedy development of an east-west thoroughfare across Saanich, retaining the rigorous Saanich sign-by-law, and, if the amalgamation referendum is defeated, a go-ahead on a Saanich municipal hall.

FOUR WAREHOUSES

It was while supporting proposals for a hall that Coun. Casey made his remark about premises. "There are four warehouses for 70 people," he said.

Then he said two pro-amalgamation councillors and Reeve Stanley Murphy had blocked allotting money for plans for a hall, prompting him to move the amalgamation referendum be held.

That was about as successful as anybody was at keeping the subject off amalgamation.

CRICKED WITH CHAMBERS
Candidate Mathison said he had checked with an unnamed Chamber of Commerce official to get the answer to a question he hadn't been able to answer at a Thursday night meeting, as to why the chamber had dropped its study of amalgamation. He said the answers were the officials, not his own.

NOT ENOUGH TIME

The chamber had felt, he'd been told, that there was too little time for a study between the announcement of the referendum and the referendum, that it didn't want to interfere in Saanich politics, and that there would probably be a study after the referendum so the chamber wouldn't have to spend the money for its own study.

In answer to a question, candidate Coun. Robert Chard said basic terms of amalgamation would be contained in an irreversible charter for the new city.

Coun. Casey and Mr. Passmore disagreed. "Terms are just a waste of time," said Mr. Passmore, because the new council would change them.

HOPE FOR BEST

"The only reason you might vote yes is, if you say, 'We have an obligation for some services (provided by Victoria) and we'll dive in and hope for the best.' If you feel that way perhaps you should vote yes."

Coun. Harold Todd listed three things, in his opinion undesirable, which had been vetoed by Saanich council and would, he thought, have been approved by a Victoria council.

They were: a hydro substation in Saanich, a race track at Beaver Lake and rezoning to commercial park use of the city-owned George Park in Saanich.

Candidates C. H. MacMillan and Lionel Spiller also spoke.

Luck Turns at Last
For Loser of $180

The Christmas season regained its lustre yesterday for Mrs. John Jacko of 3172 Shelbourne.

Mrs. Jacko lost a purse containing all the family's money — $180 — Thursday which she had planned to spend on Christmas presents.

It was the third unlucky break for the family in several weeks. First, she broke her wrist at work, then her husband John was admitted to hospital with a weak heart.

But yesterday her luck changed when city police returned her purse with the $180 and a train pass to Regina intact.

It had been found and handed to police by Mrs. Ruby Paver, 2561 Cavendish.

"The people of Victoria are so sweet and dear, they are the best people of Canada," Mrs. Jacko said. "I think it is just wonderful—we were without one cent left when we got the purse back at 10 o'clock this morning."

Mrs. Jacko said she plans to thank Mrs. Paver personally for her trouble.

Sooke Lake Water Line
Back to Normal Friday

Greater Victoria's normal water supply from Sooke Lake, cut off 10 days ago by a storm, will flow again next Friday provided the weather doesn't act up again, Greater Victoria water district commissioner Ronald Upward said last night.

Area households have been depending on the yellowish water coming in from the Goldstream reservoir after one of 54 treaties in the 27 mile flume between Sooke Lake and Humpback reservoir broke down and disrupted the system, he said.

ALREADY BUILT

A provisional road already has been built to the trestle so heavy equipment can reach the flume in inaccessible wilderness.

"All we need is a few decent days so we can drive in," Mr. Upward said. "The repair job isn't too urgent, really, because nothing ever happened to our emergency water supply from Goldstream."

"Just the same, we'd like to get it fixed. The material — prefabricated pipes for the trestle — should be here by Wednesday and the actual job of replacing them only takes a day or so."

Mr. Upward explained the general water situation in Greater Victoria:

The currently-used open-air flume was built in 1915 following the path of an old railway track for more than 27 miles. There was no road and money to build one was never allotted.

ALL THE TIME

This old flume carries 12,000,000 gallons of water a day, maximum capacity, and the water is exposed to sun and rain all the time.

The flume crosses 54 creeks and, if any one of the trestles crossing them breaks down, the whole water system is incapacitated.

The water board's answer was to build a new tunnel for $5,000,000 some 28,000 feet long (approximately 5 1/2 miles) which will be finished by 1969 or 1970 if financing on the pay-as-you-go system holds up.

The water board has $1,250,000 available and another $300,000 is coming in. By drawing from a cash account, the board can build the tunnel without interruption.

Best thing about Sooke Lake water is it doesn't have to be filtered before it reaches the consumers.

In summer, it may get tepid, so the water board decided to supply one-third of all water for the area in summer time from Sooke Lake and two-thirds from Goldstream.

SUMMER DEMAND

In winter, all water comes directly from Sooke Lake — up to 13,000,000 gallons are needed a day while the summer demand soars up to 40,000,000 gallons a day.

When the tunnel from Sooke Lake is finished, it will be able to carry up to 125,000,000 gallons of fresh, cool water a day, more than enough to cope with Greater Victoria's expected increase in population for quite some time.

"So far, we haven't had trouble supplying the area with water," said Mr. Upward. "But if we should have a long, hot and dry summer in about five years time, we would be in trouble because the tunnel won't be finished."

STAFF NOTEBOOK

McPhillips in Line
For Court Post?By Ted
Shackleford

PUZZLER: We hear there's a lot of speculation among the legal angles as to just who will be appointed to the County Court to replace His Honor Judge A. B. Cleverly when he retires. On the surface the likeliest contender would appear to be Victoria's MP A. D. B. McPhillips, but one of our Conservative friends doubts the government would like a byelection just around now. Judge Cleverly turns 75 — the retirement age — Dec. 20. Apart from Mr. McPhillips, Ed St. John, acting president of Victoria Law Society and Berkeley McNeill are being mentioned in rumors.

SPLINTER: Colleague Dan G. Galtier, information for the Colonist's shipping news, happened to ask a contact what a freighter was loading at Alberni. "It's loading wood," came the reply. "I mean lumber. . . I mean timber. . . LUMBER!"

ROLLS AND CRUMPLETS: Egad, Mr. Upward said about the new tunnel in the Greater Victoria Water Board Thursday afternoon. They'll have the latest model Rolls Royce there to make its Victoria debut, surrounded by potted palms and guests. Only the palms will be potted, mind you — refreshments are tea and crumpets. Egad, sir, what is the Empress coming to?

UNLUCKY NUMBER: Equimart police don't put much store in superstitions but the fact is they have been trying for almost three days to find out who owns 13 bundles of Japanese oranges found in the municipality. Each bundle contains two small cases of oranges and all the produce companies deny any knowledge of them. Police are keeping the location where they were found a secret to check anyone who claims the oranges.

HIP, HIP, WHO? RAY: Popular promotion down at city police headquarters is the appointment of Ray Mallard as a uniform division inspector. Ray has spent 23 years with city police, the last 11 of them in the detective office. Congratulations.

NOT HYDRO: Austin Goward, public relations man with the B.C. Hydro office here, assures us those weren't B.C. Hydro bills which were sent through the mail without postage the other day — the great majority of B.C. Hydro bills are delivered by hand and of those which are mailed out, none has been returned for lack of postage.

SILENT SERVICE: Victoria photographer Jim Ryan — an ex-Navy man — tells us the RCN brass appeared embarrassed when he called the Equimart establishment about the Glasco Report reference to the navy having a huge stockpile of "long Johns." After three hours of telephone calls, trying to get permission to take a photo of a pile of these unmentionables, Jim says he was finally told it "would not be in good taste." Dear me.

Japanese Women Take New Interest in Beauty

By YUKO NAKAMIKADO
TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese women are becoming more beauty-conscious, with teen-agers and middle-aged housewives alike giving more thought to their faces and figures.

Taking their cue from their sisters in other countries, they are making use of products ranging from seaweed to machines designed to whittle away unwanted inches.

Beauty parlors are helping them—along with better-filled purses due to the flourishing economy and more leisure resulting from a wider use of electrical appliances in the house.

Beauty parlors, once limited to setting and waving the hair, now offer hair dyeing, steam baths and showers, manicure, pedicure, facial and body massages and packs under infra-red lights.

One even adds "manicures" for the teeth—in one of four colors: pink, blue, pearl, or transparent.

OFFER WIGS

Another offers blonde, brunette and red wigs.

In a third, Irish moss, or chondrus-crispus, is imported from New Zealand and Morocco for use in a massage cream—or to be put into a hot bath to promote a smooth skin.

Teen-agers are flocking to charm schools.

There they learn bend-and-stretch exercises for figure development, the art of makeup for different occasions; how to sit and walk properly; and how to be photographed.

Housewives who cannot afford to visit charm schools or beauty parlors watch beauty advice programs on television in department stores.

Lights, Gilded Boughs Set Festive Theme at Bazaar

Mrs. H. Weldon opened St. Mary's Women's Parish Guild Christmas bazaar yesterday afternoon in the parish hall.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Trevor W. Kensington, president of the guild, and Mrs. Hywel J. Jones, wife of the rector of St. Mary's, Oak Bay.

Christmas lights and gilded boughs, on the walls of the hall, set the festive atmosphere. In charge of decorations were Mrs. John H. Fraser and Mrs. R. A. Gonnason.

Highlights of the bazaar were the home cooking stall which was sold out soon after the opening, and a large selection of candles. Christmas novelty decorations with bright colored bolls and tinsel and stuffed dolls, including golliwogs, were selling at one stall. Dainty angels in a silver tree were also for sale and would make an attractive Christmas decoration.

Stalls of books, superfluities, plants and baby's knit wear were all doing a brisk business.

In charge of tea table decorations were Mrs. J. Howard Harman and Mrs. H. J. Napier-Henry; the tea room, Young People's Group under Canon H. J. Jones and Rev. J. R. Parker.

Mrs. E. C. Carson was tea room hostess and pouring were Mrs. T. R. Lancaster, Mrs. W. S. Hamilton, Mrs. C. Errington, Mrs. M. W. Turner, Mrs. H. A. Bowden and Mrs. A. C. Murray.

Catholics Take Some Blame

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The ecumenical council cut off debate Friday on the subject of unity with the orthodox and other eastern churches and prepared to turn to another key topic—the basic structure of the Roman Catholic Church.

The council decided in a standing vote to end discussion on a draft concerning unity with the eastern churches.

But council fathers took no immediate action on the somewhat controversial draft. They are expected to vote in the next few days on whether the draft decree should be accepted as amended or merged with other documents of church unity that have not come up for discussion.

The council today will begin considering the draft "De Ecclesia" (About the Church), a lengthy document that could be compared to a charter of church organization.

The unity draft is one of three dealing with Pope John's long-range goal of reunification of all Christian churches. It lists "theological, liturgical, juridical, psychological and practical" steps that could be taken to narrow the gap between Roman Catholics and the ancient churches of the East, which broke with Rome in 1054.

A council communiqué said some speakers, discussing the responsibility for the break, said that "from the historical point of view it can be stated that Catholics also may have been in the wrong."

But the speakers added that from the point of view of theology and doctrine the Catholic church could not be blamed for the schism.

The council also continued work on the final text of a draft on liturgy—covering the outward form of worship and especially the mass—by passing another group of amendments.

The council had approved the general outlines of the liturgy draft Nov. 14 but instructed a commission to write into the text a number of amendments proposed in floor debate.

Snow Smothers TV For Unhappy Vicar

QUARNFORD, England (UPI)—Rev. Thomas Watson, 61, Anglican vicar, said yesterday he would rather retire than spend another winter in his vicarage.

He said the 200-year-old house is so vulnerable that snowdrifts pile up in front of his living room television set.

Bishop Backs Right To Withhold Drugs

LONDON (AP)—An Anglican bishop says it is sometimes right for a doctor to withhold life-prolonging drugs "at the last hour of life."

Dr. Geoffrey F. Allen, Bishop of Derby, said: "The prolongation of what is in fact a living death may be causing intense strain to relatives."

"To withhold a drug which might prolong life seems too

Anniversaries

Set for Monday

A dinner to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Victoria West United Church and the 74th anniversary of the church congregation will be held at 6 p.m. Monday in the Lower Hall.

Guest preacher Rev. H. J. Armitage, a former minister of the church, will conduct anniversary services at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow.

Election of Seventh-Day Adventist Church officers has been held in the Victoria church. Pastor S. G. White has been named head elder. Associate elders elected were Dr. Reuben Matko, J. M. LeMarquand, Dr. A. V. Piper and Dr. J. Hay.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

A current magazine article suggests that bazaars should be abolished. Yet bazaars are the one truly ecumenical event of the Church year. They not only draw together the women of a single church, but bring together the women of other churches.

There would be few friendships made in the church were it not for the work done preparing for bazaars and church suppers. There must be something in the church to bind women together.

The prayer meeting attracts only a few faithful souls. The preparatory service prior to Communion is attended by a fraction of the congregation. A church is "The Company of the Committed" yet 90 per cent of its members are not involved in any Christian enterprise or fellowship. The indifferent attendance and lukewarm unconcern of many church members prevents church worship from becoming a spiritual dynamo. With out active loving service worship can be a dangerous indulgence, merely listening to a hired minister in a comfortable seat at a convenient hour.

Loveless Church

A loveless church is one of the ugliest things on earth. Love is the badge of Christian discipleship, the royal law of Christian community. One of the finest organizations in my own church was formed by a young woman with a passionately missionary heart. I shall always remember her pushing a baby carriage with one hand and leading a little child with the other while she went with radiant Christian joy to visit the needy and shut-in. The group she formed is called "Wo-Shi-Love" meaning "Worship, Shine, Love." Members visit the sick, support missions, help the needy. That is Christianity—personal service.

Fellowship Needed

Many churches are trying to improve their worship, but liturgy can become as elaborate as you like without any vital life in the church unless the fellowship grows too. It will not grow by sermons and exhortations to a vague humanitarianism. The living of Christianity is primary: ex-</

Garden Notes

It's Most Refreshing

By M. V. CHENUT, F.R.S.

The annual 10-week stocks must be very close to the top of the list in popularity among our annual plants, for they have just about every virtue one asks in a garden flower. They are colorful as bedding plants, delightful as cut flowers, and as for fragrance, I think their spicy, clove-like scent is the most refreshing of all our flower perfumes. In our home, when the double white stocks are in bloom, my wife invariably keeps a tiny bowl on her dressing table filled with them to scent our bedroom with their clean fragrance.

Botanically, the stock is interesting and somewhat unusual in the plant world, for its double flowers are completely double, not partially so as with most other double flowers, and in consequence they cannot produce any seeds at all. All double stocks must be grown from seeds produced by single-flowered plants, and this poses something of a problem to the gardener who grows his own plants from seed.

Single-flowered stocks are not very attractive in the garden, yet it is impossible to buy seed guaranteed to produce nothing but double flowers. Every packet of stock seed will yield a mixed bag—roughly half singles and half doubles—and if you don't get them sorted out while they are still very tiny, you waste a lot of work, time and energy in growing a lot of the unwanted singles.

Chick hatcheries had this same problem for a long time—the separating of the males from the egg-producers in newly-hatched chicks before any expensive chick feed was wasted on the unwanted roosters.

At one time, the only solution was the employment of a highly-skilled sexer to cull the males and how these experts were able to determine the sex of day-old chicks is still a deep, dark Japanese secret. The geneticists put the chick-sexer out of business, though, by breeding hybrid chicks in which there are distinct color differences between male and female. A similar solution has been found for garden stocks.

A new race of stocks was developed in Denmark known as Hansen's 100 per cent Double in which the coloring of the first leaves indicates quite clearly and surely which seedlings should be saved and which discarded.

The baby plants with dark green seed leaves invariably turn out to be single-flowered plants, while the ones with pale green cotyledons are sure-fire doubles.

This Hansen seed requires a fairly high temperature for germination—55 to 60 degrees—but as soon as the seedlings come up the plants must be moved and grown on in a very cool spot—around 40 degrees is ideal. At this temperature the difference in the color of the seed leaf is most pronounced, while in warmth the difference in shade disappears and it becomes impossible to rogue out the unwanted singles. After culling, the seedling doubles are returned to normal growing temperatures.

Canadian Head of Monastery

Ex-Baptist Now Buddhist

By ALAN WALKER

LONDON (CP)—Canadian Leslie Dawson wears patchwork brown robes and sandals, reads books in an ancient Sanskrit dialect and is called Ananda Bodhi, the Bhikku.

This tall, 31-year-old Buddhist teacher wore a business suit when he attended a Baptist seminary in his native Toronto 12 years ago. Now he is head of Britain's first monastery for English-speaking Buddhists.

He leads a "more or less ascetic life," rising at 5 a.m., after about four hours' sleep, eating only two meals a day and spending all his time apart from administrative duties in silent meditation.

"Eating less is purely practical," he said in an interview in front of a large brass Buddha figure 1,500 years old. "The blood doesn't have to be used for digestion. The mind is clearer for meditation."

He may not marry, drink or smoke. His head is shaved. Laid out on a table in his room are the eight possessions he is allowed to own—three robes, a belt, a water strainer, a begging bowl and a needle and thread.

He does not believe in a God. Buddhism, he says, is more of a philosophical way of life than a religion. He left the Baptist seminary because he believed there were "too dogmatic."

FORMER LESLIE LAWSON
... now Ven. Ananda Bodhi

His meditation is designed to raise his mind above those of others. The Bhikku believes in reincarnation and that when he is born again he will assume a higher level in the universe if he has attained supreme mental discipline in his present life.

"Some people have just made it into the human class this time around," he said. "They may be reborn as animals. Most will be born into a form similar to what they now have." He meditates in a sound-proofed room in front of a large figure of Buddha, the original teacher of orthodox Theravada Buddhism who lived more than 2,000 years ago. The room is filled with incense burners, chrysanthemums and candles.

To allow his mind to become "still and lucid" he concentrates on short words or phrases called "mantras" in the ancient Sanskrit Pali dialect.

He rarely leaves the monastery. Lay people do his shopping for him. He never sees films or watches television. He does not listen to music.

"We feel people should hear themselves hearing music," he said.

The Bhikku is quick to point out the difference between Theravada Buddhism and Zen, the form of Buddhism that has been "eagerly grasped, misunderstood and exploited by Best-niks."

Zen Buddhism places more stress on the physical side of man, particularly in the popular form of it. "We are men of the mind."

The Bhikku is responsible for training about 20 novices undergoing their lower ordination before completing their studies in "some Eastern Buddhist centre, depending on the climate and the political situation."

The Bhikku completed his higher ordination in the sacred Buddhist shrine-city Buddha Gaya, India. He went to Burma and returned here this fall to his new duties. His name means Enlightenment.

Teachers usually take the name of something they want their pupils to strive for," he said.

SHEILAH GRAHAM in Hollywood

Debbie Facing Shoals?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—No! Not trouble with the Debbie Reynolds-Harry Karl marriage! In any case I refuse to believe the rumor until Debbie or Mr. Karl say it's true.

In Rome they are saying that Stewart Granger is about to make actress Sylvia Koscina his fourth wife. Actress Jean Simmons was the third. Number Two was also an actress, but Number One is lost in the mists of antiquity.

In London, British actress Anna Lee who plays a small role in What Ever Happened to Baby Jane? gets equal billing with Joan Crawford and Bette Davis.

Connie Stevens, on suspension again, at Warner Brothers, has promised to sing at the Sunset Strip Crescendo when Arthur Lyman and his group open there December 18. Connie and the boys worked together in several Hawaiian Eye episodes.

Herb Greene, musical director and co-producer of the ill-fated Nowhere to Go but Up Broadway show, is very articulate on the subject of its director, Sidney Lunel. None of the conversation is complimentary.

Bing Crosby signed the 24-year-old daughter of the English housekeeper he imported to Hollywood, for a job as television assistant. The blonde girl is pretty enough to star in a series.

Walt Disney believes that Julie Andrews should not be parted from her husband, Tony Walton. While Julie stars for Walt in Mary Poppins, Tony will work in the designing department.

Roddy McDowall, David McCullum, Peter Mann and Michael Tolan had leave from the Arizona location of The Greatest Story Ever Told, and flew to Las Vegas to catch Ethel Merman's act. They had a party with her after the show. Said Ethel later, "It's the first time a Jewish girl ever had St. Matthew, Judas, Nathaniel and St. Peter as her escorts."

Jean Simmons had hoped to finish her All The Way Home movie in Manhattan in time to go home for Christmas but the picture with Robert Preston will continue until early in January. "So we're flying the family to New York for the holidays," said Jean. "We" means husband Richard Brooks, and the family is his 16-month-old daughter Katie and six-year-old Tracy Granger.

Director Brooks recently arrived in Manhattan from Thailand where he went in hopes of getting permission to film some of his Lord Jim movie in the King's summer palace.

To Save 'Canyon'

Seven-Year-Old Writes President

By ROBERT BUCKHORN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In the eyes of a seven-year-old, the president of the United States can do anything—even save his lizard hunting grounds from the bulldozers of progress.

Heading straight for home, when he heard his personal "canyon" was being cemented over for a housing development and a playground, Scott Peter Turner, wrote President Kennedy for help.

Li words carefully printed on a sheet of school paper, Scott said:

"Dear Mr. President, we have no place to go when we want to go out in the canyon because there are going to build houses so could you set aside some land where we could play? Thank you four listenin', love Scott."

Scott's father, a San Diego, Calif., insurance man, slipped in a note of his own along with Scott's letter to the White House.

He told how the "canyon" were open land where Scott loved to hunt for lizards, and just by himself to investigate anthills, and things small boys keep secret from the world of adults.

Once he heard his canyon was being taken away, he wanted to do something to stop the spollers.

"In complete defeat, anger, and frustration he ran home, demanded a paper and pencil and put a determined hand to his letter of protest," the boy's father said.

He wound up his letter by telling the president it seemed sad that in an era of seemingly intellectual advancement and highly civilized progress, a little boy can't find a place to play.

Kennedy turned over Scott's letter to Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall. In his reply, Udall told Scott the president sympathized with him, and was trying to do something to make sure there would always be a "place to play" for little boys.

Said Udall: "We are trying as hard as we can to do just what you ask—to set aside some land where you can play—not in groups with supervision, but just roaming by yourself and find-out-how-you relate to the earth and sky. It's a thing you can only do by yourself and it's a very important thing."

BIG GEORGE! By Virgil Partch

"Please, George, just hang on a minute—I'll find your rubbers!"

Minerals Booming

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (Reuters) — Alaska, once famous for its gold rush, is developing a variety of other mineral resources undreamed of by the early prospectors.

While applications continue for off-shore gold prospecting rights, output of uranium and coal is increasing.

Other mineral wealth, apart from oil, being exploited or explored, includes mercury, silver, platinum, copper, antimony and gem stones.

Alaska's only uranium mine this year received an increase of 30,000 pounds in its uranium production allocation from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Some 2,500 tons of uranium ore was mined in 1961 at the properties at Bokan Mountain, on Prince of Wales Island.

Alaska's coal production, though only a fraction of its estimated 100,000,000-ton resources, is being well maintained.

A summary of 1961 mineral production shows that coal, gold, mercury, silver, platinum, uranium, copper and gem stones were extracted to a total value of $12,640,000.

Actors Differ On Rome Role

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Will Rome take over as the world's film capital?

Actor Peter Falk, who has never made a movie there, thinks it could happen. Jack Palance, who has been making movies in Italy for five years, says never.

In back-to-back interviews on the same day, unknown to each other, the two actors gave diametrically opposed views on European film-making as compared with the Hollywood variety.

"Those Italian directors have something, mostly taste and imagination, that's lacking over here," said Falk. "We have it in a few directors like Frank Capra but not in the many."

Falk, who won a television Emmy, has been nominated for a movie Oscar twice. That is quite a record because he now is making only his third movie — "The Balcony."

"I'd go to Italy tomorrow to work for a Fellini or a de Sica," he said. "I'd leave today if Ingmar Bergman of Sweden beckoned."

"Those men are creative artists, not hacks. As an actor, I want to work with them."

"I think the Italian directors are lousy," he said. "They concern themselves with such trivial things as making an actor kick his heel a certain way when walking. The actors themselves make the movies."

Medical Plan For Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — A voluntary prepaid medical plan will be included in a wide-ranging, multi-million dollar extension to Alberta's five-year development plan, Premier E. C. Manning announced Friday.

The program also includes $500,000,000 for education during the next five years, a new northern development council and a special investment fund.

LEGISLATIVE PREVIEW

The extension program gave Albertans a peek into legislation planned for the next session of the legislature, which will begin Thursday, Feb. 14, and last night to speculation a provincial general election will be called early in 1963.

A five-year development program initiated in 1959, six months before the last general election, still has a year to run. It included construction of senior citizens' homes, community improvement and recreation grants, more than $300,000,000 toward education, a hospital construction program and construction of facilities for the treatment and education of multiple-handicapped children.

APPOINTS MINISTERS

In unveiling his blueprint for Alberta's future, the premier also announced appointment of two ministers without portfolio, Mrs. Ethel Wilson, 60, an Edmonton alderman and Social Credit member for Edmonton North, and Ira McLaughlin, government member for Grande Prairie, were brought into the cabinet.

He will also sit in on a meeting of the Inter-high council at Red Cross House.

For Dec. 14 Election

Liberals, Tories Fill Slate

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Progressive Conservatives and Liberals nominated candidates in all 55 seats at stake as nominations closed Friday for the Dec. 14 Manitoba general election.

Voting in the northern seats of Churchill and Ruperts Land has been deferred until Jan. 4, with nominations closing Dec. 21.

NDP NAME 38

The New Democratic Party nominated 38 candidates, the Social Credit party, 12, the Communists two and three independents brought the total to 165, compared with 160 in the last general election in 1959.

FEW SURPRISES

The nomination deadline brought few surprises, although two NDP candidates originally expected to enter did not make the grade. One was Mrs. Christine Willer, in the Winnipeg constituency of River Heights, whose nomination papers were faulty because one signer lived outside the riding.

Four unexpected Social Credit candidates qualified to run. The party's total of 12 compared with 12 in the 1958 general election and none in the 1959 contest.

HOUSE STANDINGS

Standing in the legislature at dissolution was: Progressive Conservative 34, Liberal 10, NDP 9, Social Credit 1, vacant 3, total 57.

Standing after the 1959 election was Progressive Conservative 36, Liberal 11, NDP 10. In the interim, the Liberals took one seat from the Progressive Conservatives and Social Credit one from the Liberals in by-elections.

Paris 'Pawns' Feel Canada Failed Them

By GORDON G. DENYAR
Special to the Colonist

OTTAWA—Canadian delegates felt like pawns in a game they did not understand when they went to Paris recently to attend the annual North Atlantic Treaty Organization Parliamentarians' Conference.

Missile Nerves Probed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. defence department has ordered a closer check on the emotional status of men who handle nuclear weapons because:

1. A U.S. Air Force sergeant, in 1954, threatened to commit suicide by shooting a pistol bullet into a nuclear bomb.

2. An air policeman guarding a missile talked about as impulse to fire a pistol at the missile, which was on a pad, "to see what would happen."

3. An alarm, nervous over marital trouble forgot to hook up a ground wire in an electric circuit and an intercontinental ballistic missile, without a warhead, was destroyed by fire and explosion.

An air force spokesman gave the spokesman yesterday for an announcement that all other services are being directed to adopt an air force safety check system on the human element among those who have access to nuclear weapons.

The spokesman said none of the incidents cited could have produced a nuclear explosion.

Rusk, Mikoyan Keep Talking

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly I. Mikoyan conferred in a "spirit of goodwill" Friday on Cuba and other cold war problems. A U.S. spokesman said he could not say whether the talks were advanced or retarded East-West relations.

Danger Still High —India

NEW DELHI (AP)—Still digging in defensively, Indian troops waited tensely today for Communist China to make good its promise to begin pulling back from positions along the Himalayan battlefronts.

Red China insisted the withdrawal would take place on a schedule and authoritative sources reported the Indian government had indications the Red Chinese will pull back.

MIN DANGER

It may be days before Indian forces can ascertain whether the Communists units are doing what they say are.

Indian officials felt that until the situation clarified there was high danger of an incident that could spark renewal of the heavy fighting that brought Peking's forces to the edge of India's populous plains of Assam.

REPEATS STAND

Red China reaffirmed its intentions in a defence ministry communiqué issued Friday and broadcast by Peking radio early today. The Communists were the same as when Red China imposed a cease-fire along the battlefront Nov. 21.

The Chinese troops, the communiqué said, will pull back 124 miles behind what Peking calls the line of control of Nov. 7, 1950. The broadcast also called on India to "promptly take corresponding measures" to Peking's cease-fire and troop withdrawal.

Pakistan Pressed

RAWALPINDI (UPI)—Opposition members demanded an explanation from the government Friday of the agreement with India to settle the Kashmir issue through direct Indo-Pakistani talks. The general assembly recessed until today so the government could prepare a statement.

New Nina Safe

SAN JUAN (UPI)—A U.S. navy patrol plane Friday sighted the Spanish ship Nina II, a replica of one of Columbus' ships missing for seven weeks with eight men aboard, sailing calmly through azure-blue Caribbean waters.

The ship set out from Spain 48 days ago trying to duplicate Columbus' voyage of discovery to the new world.

WALKIE-TALKIE

The navy plane managed to drop a walkie-talkie radio to the ship.

The Neptune reported the men indicated all aboard are in good health, a navy spokesman said. There is sufficient food and water aboard the vessel for approximately 20 days.

Gas Well Fire Out of Control

MEDICINE HAT (CP)—Flames shot 100 feet from a natural gas well which was burning out of control south of here Friday. There were no injuries.

Ottawa Miss Wins, Grey Cup in Doubt

MISS GREY CUP
... regal surprise

TORONTO—Gemma born Emma Fikella, Miss Ottawa Rough Riders, almost fell off her stool when she was announced winner of the Miss Grey Cup title here last night. Edmonton and Winnipeg girls were second and third.

The 17-year-old blonde ballet and high school student will reign over festivities today which may be curtailed if a dense fog conditions through the afternoon.

Football officials will decide at 8 a.m. Victoria time if the game will be postponed until Sunday.

Weather forecast calls for light winds which may clear the field by the 10 a.m. PST kickoff.

Thalidomide Sequel

Ottawa Probes Drug Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—The drug industry, awaiting a report by anti-combines investigators into its sale and distribution practices, now is to undergo a sweeping parliamentary inquiry into the field of introduction, marketing and sale of drugs.

Health Minister Monteith announced Friday his intention to move establishment of a special committee into surveying these aspects of the industry.

SIXTY IN CANADA

The decision to make a special inquiry comes in the wake of government legislative action to ban sale in Canada of thalidomide, blamed for birth malformations of about 60 infants in Canada and thousands in Germany and other countries.

Mr. Monteith also announced in the Commons that his department is restricting sales of preparations containing another chemical ingredient suspected by Swedish authorities of playing a part in congenital malformations.

Preparations containing neomycin, sold under the brand names Anivert, Strab 702, Strab 702, Bana-lites, Bana-lites, Bana-lites and Promedol, will immediately require a doctor's prescription.

In addition, a warning about them is being issued to all doctors and druggists.

Will Christmas come and then bypass this child without bringing the toy that is her heart's desire? Christmas toys are out of reach for many unfortunate Victoria families without the help of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund. The need is urgent. —(William Boucher)

At emergency hospital, unidentified blundered survivor of tragic airplane crash awaits treatment at Idlewild Airport. —(AP Photo/fox.)

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—More than 100 people were taken to hospital Friday night as deadly chlorine gas escaping from a railway tank car spread over a large section of Cornwall's northeastern outskirts.

Thirty-five were being kept in two hospitals for treatment for chlorine poisoning, but the rest were discharged after treatment. Hospital officials said all were in satisfactory condition.

Police said the peak danger period had passed. A heavy yellow gas fog which hugged the ground for about six hours had finally dissipated.

Reporters who ventured into the area said a distinct, pungent odor of gas was noticeable and police were warning people to keep clear of the area.

Earlier, police and Emergency Measures Organization officials had evacuated 200 persons and warned the whole heavily populated northeastern section of the city to prepare for evacuation at a minute's notice in case a change in the direction of the wind swept the gas over the area.

WILL MOVE CAR

Mayor Nick Kead, after a meeting with police and fire chiefs and officials of Canada Industries Limited, manufacturer of the gas, said attempts would be made to move the railway tank car to a safer area "first thing in the morning."

He said there was little immediate danger because the

'We'll Make It I Think' —25 Died

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Eastern Air Lines DC7B airliner carrying 46 passengers and a crew of five crashed and burned while landing at fogbound Idlewild airport last night shortly after the pilot had told passengers "I think we'll make it."

The airline said 25 persons were killed in the flaming crash. The fire department said 25 persons survived, leaving the fate of one person unknown. The name J. Kell of Edmonton appeared on the list of known survivors.

HEAVY FOG

Fog hung so heavy over the huge airport when the airliner—a non-stop flight from Charlotte, N.C.—came in emergency vehicles were unable immediately to locate the burning plane.

A number of flights had been cancelled or diverted before the crash.

Survivor M. V. Little, 54, of Garden City, N.Y., a former executive of Fairchild Aircraft, charged the crash could have been avoided if the four-engine propeller-driven airliner had been diverted to Philadelphia.

"For the Federal Aviation Agency to allow that plane to come in under these (fog) conditions was nothing less than criminal," Little said.

"From a height of about 50 feet the (ground) lights were indistinct. Then they became more luminous. The pilot attempted to take off again and the rear hit the ground first and then he hit with his wheels, which collapsed."

Little, who made his way to safety from the flames, said survivors were left out on the field for an hour and 10 minutes without being attended to.

The airline said later: "This flight had been cleared to land by the tower. The landing was within the limits of ceiling and visibility. The tower did not declare any emergency."

Survivor Lou Loft, 54, of Dover, N.J., a television producer, said pilot Capt. Edward Bechtold, one of the Air Line Pilots' Association's top safety experts, had expressed concern about the weather before the landing.

SOCKED IN

When one hour before, Loft said, the pilot said on the intercom: "The chances are we might have to land in Philadelphia. We're pretty well socked in at Idlewild."

Thirty minutes later, Loft said, Bechtold told the passengers: "We are over Sandy Hook. We are going to hold."

About six minutes before

Six Air Disasters Kill 181 in Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The crash Friday night of an Eastern Airlines DC-7 at Idlewild Airport was the sixth major airplane accident in the last week.

The other five took a combined toll of 181 lives.

The worst one, in terms of fatalities, was Tuesday in Paris when a Los Angeles-bound Varig Airlines 707 hit a mountain minutes before it was to make a pre-arrival landing at Lima airport. All 97 persons aboard—80 passengers and a crew of 17—were killed.

On the previous day, 27 persons died when a Brazilian airliner collided with a small private plane over Sao Paulo state in Brazil.

Three plane crashes occurred a week ago Friday.

A United Air Lines Viscount fell near Elkhart City, Md., killing 17 persons.

A Portuguese military transport plane crashed on St. Thomas Island off West Africa, killing 19 of 32 persons aboard.

And a Hungarian airliner plunged to earth near Paris, and all 21 persons aboard died.

Misfortunes Pile Up for Plucky Mother

By DON MATHEWSON

You do the best you can with what you have—and somehow you get by.

That, essentially, is the outlook of a 35-year-old Victoria woman who will receive a Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund cheque this year.

The size of the cheque depends on the response of her fellow citizens.

It couldn't, possibly, match

the size of the load of trouble she faces—and fights—day by day.

Her husband left her 12 years ago, shortly after the birth of twins. He died later in England. One twin died and the other is in a Victoria hospital with a seriously weakened heart.

Three more of her 11 children live in her rented home. One 16-year-old boy is in school, a waitress daughter left her job a month ago and an older daughter with a three-year-old child has separated from her husband.

She cannot work, for she too has a bad heart, a condition that has gradually worsened since she was 20.

More trouble came 18 months ago. Worry over the misfortunes of another daughter brought on a stroke that still affects the mother's memory.

The household lives on meagre assistance and what money comes in when the two older daughters are working.

"I sit down with a paper and think about every cent," she said.

Once a seamstress, she has remade everything possible into other clothes. The wardrobe is empty.

Last month was rough, with no one working. So an extra cheque for $24 was added by welfare.

"I walk right down to the store—on a crutch—and spent it all for food. And I cooked it up, just so much every day... enough... and that was it."

"I try to be as happy as I can... I know there are people worse off than I am. Once, I used to make up parcels at Christmas for the poor... I suppose I'm like them today."

She hopes to have her daughter home from hospital for Christmas. She is mildly misled, because so much of her young life has been spent at home, sick.

"I'm not ashamed of my home. It's clean. I have my children and it's happy."

This is one Colonist 500 Fund story. The fund cheque will add another slight touch of happiness.

There are 600 other such stories that might well be told. The need is urgent.

Widow's Will

Fortune For 'Army'

By DON MATHESON

Victoria chapter of the Salvation Army has been left more than $100,000 by a 91-year-old widow who was the Empress Hotel's longest resident.

The tall and gracious Mrs. Florence Slocum French lived at the Empress 42 years before her death Sept. 25.

NET RESIDUE

She left a net estate of $245,113, mostly in "blue chip" stocks and bonds. After $45,000 in bequests to individuals, the net residue of $199,581.04 is to go to the Salvation Army.

The money is to be "used for such charitable purposes as the said Salvation Army thinks best," her will, probated yesterday, directs. It adds a simple receipt from the Army is all that's required.

ELECTRIC CAR

Mrs. French was a familiar figure in Victoria some 20 years ago when she drove the streets in an electric motorcar with a six-mile-an-hour maximum speed.

The "brougham" was sold to a collector several years ago.

A woman with a quiet, retiring disposition, Mrs. French was the widow of Cecil French, a veterinarian, manufacturer, soldier and big game hunter who died in 1951.

ACQUAINTANCES

The couple came to Victoria in 1920 and lived in the Empress from that time. Born in Montreal Feb. 9, 1871, Mrs. French left several bequests locally to acquaintances.

Included are Mrs. Gertrude Lamb, 1094 St. Patrick Street, cash, $10,000, $110 in furs and jewelry; Misses Mary and Nan Martin, 833 Burdett Avenue, each $5,000 and $20 in jewelry.

OTHER BEQUESTS

George F. Aitken, Sooke Post Office, $5,000 and $10 jewelry; Mrs. Ellen Botting, 4095 Tyndall, $5,000 and $125 jewelry.

Mrs. V. M. Moore, 576 Dal-las, $107.50 furs and jewelry; Miss Jessie Peppers, c/o Empress Hotel, $17.50 jewelry; Mrs. Elsie Allen, c/o Empress, $22.50 jewelry.

FINAL PROVISION

Bequests of $20,000 went to Eastern Canada and $3,000 to West Germany.

A final provision of the will for cremation and scattering of ashes at sea was carried out earlier.

Orphan's Trip

HMCS New Glasgow will make an informal cruise to Port Angeles Dec. 12 and 13 to hold a Christmas party aboard the frigate for a group of orphans.

High Credit Rating Proven for Victoria

Excellence of Victoria's credit rating was amply demonstrated yesterday when tenders were received for the sale of debentures worth $1,115,000.

Acceptance of the highest offer, by Pemberton Securities Ltd. and syndicate, ratified by city council at a special meeting, will bring the city a premium "in excess of $20,000."

City manager C. C. Wyatt told council the bids received from 10 syndicates representing a total of 27 financial houses served to substantiate claims that Victoria was in excellent financial shape.

In the present bond market, the city manager added, many other Canadian municipalities have been forced to accept discount prices.

REFERENCE MADE

"That should answer the criticism voiced by some of our friends and neighbors," said finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell.

He was referring to attacks by anti-amalgamationists led by Coun. Joseph Casey of Saanich, who claimed the city is seeking union of the two municipalities to ease its own debt load.

SOLD RECENTLY

Mr. Wyatt said the basic strength of the city's financial position can be determined by studying the performance of other municipalities who have recently sold debentures.

The full amount of Victoria's $1,115,000 debenture issue is backed by downtown merchants. It bears a coupon rate of 5 1/2 per cent.

The accepted price of 101.816 per $100 bond cannot be directly compared with Burnaby's recent $833,000 debenture issue which brought in $84.27.

The city manager said, however, an alternate bid received by the city at a comparable 5 1/2 per cent coupon rate was for 99.12.

The city of Halifax recently floated a $1,500,000 debenture issue at a coupon rate of 5 1/2 per cent which was sold at a discount of 99.627.

Food Rule Stalled

NANAIMO — The Union Board of Health has decided to discuss further the advisability of adequate training for food handlers, before acting on sanitary inspector G. Hill's suggestion of a recognized course of training.

"There are no laws governing the stand of food handlers and their competence. Their techniques leave much to be desired," said Mr. Hill.

COMPLICATIONS

"I can see a lot of complications to such a move," commented Ald. George Bryce, who suggested a meeting with those who knew the conditions in the trade.

Dr. C. J. G. MacKenzie, central island health unit director, has told the health board "the purpose of civil defence exercises was to find the snags and we have now remedied them."

NO REASON

His report on the increased number of infectious hepatitis cases throughout the area gave no reason for the increase.

The report from the radiation protection department did not show the reading for the island but indicated steady rises in radiation in the Vancouver area.

ALBERNI—"We are united behind this project," Mayor Fred Bishop said after a meeting in Qualicum this week to discuss joint representation to the B.C. government for a road to connect the Alberni and Comox valleys.

He said enthusiasm was shown by representatives of Cumberland village council, Courtenay city council, the Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Commerce and the Alberni Valley.

Mayor Bishop chaired the meeting, which authorized preparation of a brief urging government action on the road. It has been under discussion for over half a century.

ROADS CHAIRMAN

William Beckingham, president of Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce, was delegated to draw up the brief.

Among those attending for the preliminary discussion was Cliff Laver, island chamber roads committee chairman. Dave Galliford represented the local Social Credit Association. Mayor Loran Jordan and Ald. Les Hammer represented Port Alberni council.

EMERGENCY AREA

Among reasons advanced in favor of a connecting road between the valleys were provision of an emergency route in the event of a slide on the Alberni Highway, an alternate route to promote tourist business and the opening of a new recreation area.

It was suggested the road, by shortening the travelling distance between east coast and the Alberni Valley, would stimulate sale of the Comox area's farm and dairy produce.

Firemen Save Building

GANGES—Quick action by the North Spring Island volunteer fire department, on the scene 50 seconds after the alarm, saved the home and office of Dr. E. A. Jansman here when fire of unknown origin broke out in an upstairs bedroom about 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Damage, confined to the bedroom, was estimated at $1,000. Fire chief Fred Donaghy said: "Another five minutes and we would have lost half the house."

Unpalatable to Teachers?

Crime Linked To Lack Of Discipline

VANCOUVER — A retired senior R.A.F. officer and eye surgeon Friday linked the rate of alcoholism, drug addiction and crime in Canada to lack of discipline and correction in its schools.

Air Marshall Sir Philip Livingston of Qualicum told a provincial conference of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

VITAL IMPORTANCE

"It would seem unarguable that the young demand correction, unpalatable though this may be to the psychology-natural teaching staffs. It is of vital importance to Canada that all be taught the broad principles of right from wrong."

"If we do not grapple with these problems, we will part from the very freedom we so loudly extol."

Countless hours are spent training horses, dogs and other animals to perform, but precious few to training the infant and adolescent to find happiness, he said.

Air Vice-Marshal Livingston said he has found "egoism and complacency" among Canadian youth, and little attempt to stress belief in leadership, loyalty and love of country.

BY BIRTH

He termed "miserable disclosures" statistics showing 218,000 chronic alcoholics, 3,000 drug addicts and 93.2 per cent of criminals detained in our penitentiaries "Canadian subjects by birth."

His recommendations included:

- Kindergarten schools to teach children to read simple books at six.
- Games masters or instructors to organize play and develop team spirit.
- A cycle track on every main boulevard.
- An opportunity for those responsible for the religious part of living to discuss salting of churches.

Police

Seek

Molester

PORT ALBERNI — RCMP here are asking for information which might lead to the apprehension of a molester whose description was supplied by a local woman accounted on a city street.

Police said the woman was threatened and her clothing was torn before she escaped after being accosted near the 10th Avenue North fill at about 8 p.m. Monday.

DISTINCT ACCENT

The attacker was described as being in his early 30s, five feet, 10 inches tall, with long curly or bushy brown hair. He was said to have been wearing a white, beige or light-colored three-quarter-length car coat of woolly material and to have spoken with a distinct foreign accent, possibly German.

NANAIMO — Shareholders of Nanaimo golf course have been urged to campaign harder to sell shares in the club.

"The $100 entry fee slated to begin April 1 should be an added incentive for those interested to buy now," president Elmer Bradshaw told the recent annual meeting.

FEES DOUBLED

"We have a firm basis on which to build, but everyone will have to participate for the club to reach its objective," he said.

Club fees, one of the main sources of revenue, have been doubled since the move to the new course.

DIRECTORS NAMED

B. Dobson, John MacArthur, Stan Dyda, Ken Thompson and T. Rausch were named directors for the coming year.

The presentation banquet and annual dance will be held at the clubhouse today.

McPhillips in Line For Court Post?

By Ted Shackelford

PUZZLER: We hear there's a lot of speculation among the legal eagles as to just who will be appointed to the County Court to replace Mr. Hon. Judge J. B. Clearhouse when he retires. On the surface the likeliest contender would appear to be Victoria's M.P. A. J. B. McPhillips, but one of our conservative friends doubts the government would like a byelection just around now. Judge Clearhouse turns 75—the retirement age—Dec. 30. Apart from Mr. McPhillips, Ed M. Jorre—acting president of Victoria Law Society—and Berkeley Monthie are being mentioned in rumors.

THE latest model Rolls-Royce there to make its Victoria debut, surrounded by potted palms and guests. Only the palms will be potted, mind you—refreshments are tea and crumpets. Egad, sir, what is the Empress coming to?

UNLUCKY NUMBER: Qualicum police don't put much store in superstitions but the fact is they have been trying for almost three days to find out who owns 12 bundles of Japanese oranges found in the municipality. Each bundle contains two small cases of oranges and all the produce companies deny any knowledge of them. Police are keeping the location where they were found a secret to check anyone who claims the oranges.

SPLINTER: Colleague Don Gale, gathering information for the Colonist's shipping news, happened to see a contract what a freighter was loading at Alberni: "It's loading wood," came the reply. "I mean lumber. . . . I mean timber. . . . LUMBER!"

BOLLS AND CRUMPS: Egad, sir, did you hear about the reception in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Thursday afternoon? They'll have city police headquarters is the appointment of Ray McNeill as a uniform division inspector. Ray has spent 23 years with city police, the last 11 of them in the detective office. Congratulations.

NOT HYDEO: Austin Goward, public relations man with the B.C. Hydro office here, assures us those weren't B.C. Hydro bills which were sent through the mail without postage the other day—the great majority of B.C. Hydro bills are delivered by hand and of those which are mailed out, none has been returned for lack of postage.

SILENT SERVICE: Victoria photographer Alan Ryan—an ex-Navy man—tells us the RCN was appeared embarrassed when he called the Esquimalt establishment about the navy having a huge stockpile of "long johns." After three hours of telephone calls, trying to get permission to take a photo of a pile of these underwear, Alan says he was finally told it "would not be in good taste." Dear me.

'Be Five Minutes Late Not 50 Years Early'

"It is better to be five minutes late arriving at one destination than to be 50 years too early at another."

This is the food-for-thought message from Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, flag officer, Pacific Coast, to inaugurate National Safe Driving Week today.

The twisted wreck of an automobile is on display near the main gate of HMCS Dockyard, a grim reminder of the tragic results of careless driving.

Mr. Landymore also urged motorists and pedestrians to obey the rules of the road.

"Many drivers and pedestrians seem to take the attitude that traffic regulations and signs are dreamed up to antagonize them," he said.

"This, of course, is nonsense. If the motorist and pedestrian obey the law explicitly their chances of survival in this world of motorized travel are much greater than if they ignore them."

Few Care for NATO

Paris 'Pawns' Feel Canada Failed Them

By GORDON G. DEWAR
Special to the Colonist

OTTAWA—Canadian delegates felt like pawns in a game they did not understand when they went to Paris recently to attend the annual North Atlantic Treaty Organization Parliamentary Conference.

They felt they had been used badly and they contributed nothing to the Canadian position in NATO.

This is the central issue behind the furor brewing as a result of a French language report that the delegates did little or nothing in Paris aside from partying.

Missile Nerves Probed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. defence department has ordered a closer check on the emotional status of men who handle nuclear weapons because:

1. A U.S. Air Force sergeant, in 1954, threatened to commit suicide by shooting a pistol bullet into a nuclear bomb.

2. An air policeman guarding a missile talked about an impulse to fire a pistol at the missile, which was on a pad, "to see what would happen."

3. An airman nervous over marital trouble forgot to hook up a ground wire in an electric circuit and an intercontinental ballistic missile, without a warhead, was destroyed by fire and explosion.

An air force spokesman gave this background yesterday for an announcement that all other services are being directed to adopt an air force safety check system on the human element among those who have access to nuclear weapons.

The spokesman said none of the incidents cited could have produced a nuclear explosion.

Rusk, Mikoyan Keep Talking

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Mikoyan conferred in a "spirit of goodwill" Friday on Cuba and other cold war problems. A U.S. spokesman said he could not say whether it advanced or retarded East-West relations.

Danger High —India

NEW DELHI (AP)—Still digging in defensively, Indian troops waited tensely today for Communist China to make good its promise to begin pulling back from positions along the Himalayan battlefronts.

Red China insisted the withdrawals would take place on a schedule and authoritative sources reported the Indian government had indications the Red Chinese will pull back.

HIGH DANGER

It may be days before Indian forces can ascertain whether the Communists units are doing what they say they are.

Indian officials felt that until the situation clarified there was high danger of an incident that could spark renewal of the heavy fighting that brought Peking's forces to the edge of India's populous plains of Assam.

REPEATS STAND

Red China reaffirmed its intention in a defence ministry communiqué issued Friday and broadcast by Peking radio early today. The conditions were the same as when Red China imposed a cease-fire along the battlefront Nov. 21.

Pakistan Pressed

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI)—Opposition members demanded an explanation from the government Friday of the agreement with India to settle the Kashmir issue through direct Indo-Pakistani talks. The general assembly recessed until today so the government could prepare a statement.

New Nina Safe

SAN JUAN (UPI)—A U.S. navy patrol plane Friday sighted the Spanish ship Nina II, a replica of one of Columbus' ships missing for seven weeks with eight men aboard, sailing calmly through azure-blue Caribbean waters.

The ship set out from Spain 45 days ago trying to duplicate Columbus' voyage of discovery to the new world.

WALKIE-TALKIE

The navy plane managed to drop a walkie-talkie radio to the ship.

"The Neptune reported the men indicated all aboard are in good health," a navy spokesman said. "There is sufficient food and water aboard the vessel for approximately 20 days."

Gas Well Fire Out of Control

MEDICINE HAT (CP)—Flames shot 100 feet from a natural gas well which was burning out of control south of here Friday. There were no injuries.

Ottawa Miss Wins, Grey Cup in Doubt

MISS GREY CUP
... regal surprise

TORONTO—German-born Renata Pihella, Miss Ottawa Rough Riders, almost fell off her stool when she was announced winner of the Miss Grey Cup title here last night. Edmonton and Winnipeg girls were second and third.

The 17-year-old blonde ballet and high school student will reign over festivities today which may be curtailed if a severe fog continues through the afternoon.

Football officials will decide at 3 a.m. Victoria time if the game will be postponed until Sunday.

Weather forecast calls for light winds which may clear the field by the 10 a.m. PST kickoff.

Ottawa Probes Drug Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—The drug industry, awaiting a report by anti-combines investigators into its sale and distribution practices, now is to undergo a searching parliamentary inquiry into the field of introduction, marketing and sale of drugs.

Health Minister Monteith announced Friday his intention to move establishment of a special Commons committee into current law and practices concerning these aspects of the industry.

The decision to make a special inquiry comes in the wake of government legislative action to ban sale in Canada of thalidomide, blamed for birth malformations of about 60 infants in Canada and thousands in Germany and other countries.

Preparations containing medicine, sold under the brand names Anivert, Ritalin 701, Bionin 701, Ronadette, Roposkolin, Bonamine and Promela, will henceforth require a doctor's prescription.

In addition, a warning about them is being issued to all doctors and druggists.

Will Christmas come and then bypass this child without bringing the toy that is her heart's desire? Christmas toys are out of reach for many unfortunate Victoria families without the help of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund. The need is urgent. —(William Boucher)

Ontario City Reports No Deaths

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—More than 100 people were taken to hospital Friday night as deadly chlorine gas escaping from a railway tank car spread over a large section of Cornwall's northeastern outskirts.

Thirty-five were being kept in two hospitals for treatment for chlorine poisoning, but the rest were discharged after treatment. Hospital officials said all were in satisfactory condition.

Police said the peak danger period had passed. A heavy yellow gas fog which hugged the ground for about six hours had finally dissipated.

Reporters who ventured into the area said a distinct, pungent odor of gas was noticeable and police were warning people to keep clear of the area.

Earlier, police and Emergency Measures Organization officials had evacuated 200 persons and warned the whole heavily populated northeastern section of the city to prepare for evacuation in a minute's notice in case a change in the direction of the wind swept the gas over the area.

WILL MOVE CAR

Mayor Nick Kosed, after a meeting with police and fire chiefs and officials of Canada Industries Limited, manufacturer of the gas, said attempts would be made to move the railway tank car to a safer area "first thing in the morning."

He said there was little immediate danger because the car was in a "safe" area.

Jetliner Escapes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The nosewheel of a BOAC 707 jetliner from Hong Kong collapsed last night as the huge plane landed at San Francisco airport.

A BOAC spokesman said none of the 63 passengers and crew aboard suffered even minor injuries in the mishap.

Six Air Disasters Kill 181 in Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The crash Friday night of an Eastern Air Lines DC-7 at Idlewild Airport was the sixth major airplane accident in the last week.

The other five took a combined toll of 181 lives.

WRECKED IN

About one hour before, Loft said, the pilot said on the intercom: "The chances are we might have to land in Philadelphia. We're pretty well soaked in it Idlewild."

Thirty minutes later, Loft said, Bechtold told the passengers: "We're over Sandy Hook. We are going to hold."

'We'll Make It I Think' —25 Died

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Eastern Air Lines DC-7B airliner carrying 46 passengers and a crew of five crashed and burned while landing at fogbound Idlewild airport last night shortly after the pilot had told passengers "I think we'll make it."

The airline said 25 persons were killed in the flaming crash. The fire department said 25 persons survived. Leaving the fate of one person unknown. The name J. DeRif of Edmonton appeared on the list of known survivors. The pilot was the missing man.

HEAVY FOG

Fog hung so heavy over the huge airport when the airliner — a non-stop flight from Charlotte, N.C. — came in emergency vehicles were unable immediately to locate the burning plane.

A number of flights had been cancelled or diverted before the crash.

Survivor M. V. Little, 34, of Garden City, N.Y., a former executive of Fairchild Aircraft, charged the crash could have been avoided if the four-engine propeller-driven airliner had been diverted to Philadelphia.

"For the Federal Aviation Agency to allow that plane to come in under those (fog) conditions was nothing less than criminal," Little said. "From a height of about 30 feet the (ground) lights were indistinct. Then they became more luminous. The pilot attempted to take off again and the rear hit the ground first and then he hit with his wheels, which collapsed."

Little, who made his way to safety from the flames, said survivors were left out on the field for an hour and 10 minutes without being attended to.

The airline said later: "This flight had been cleared to land by the tower. The landing was within the limits of ceiling and visibility. The tower did not declare any emergency."

Survivor Lou Loft, 34, of Dover, N.J., a television producer, said pilot Capt. Edward Bechtold, one of the Air Line Pilots' Association's top safety experts, had expressed concern about the weather before the landing.

On the previous day, 27 persons died when a Brazilian airliner collided with a small private plane over Sao Paulo state in Brazil.

Three plane crashes occurred a week ago Friday

A United Air Lines Viscount fell near Elkhart City, Md., killing 17 persons.

A Portuguese military transport plane crashed on St. Thomas Island off West Africa, killing 19 of 23 persons aboard.

And a Hungarian airliner plunged to earth near Paris, and all 21 persons aboard died.

Misfortunes Pile Up for Plucky Mother

By DON MATHEWSON

You do the best you can with what you have — and somehow you get by.

That, essentially, is the outlook of a 55-year-old Victoria woman who will receive a Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund cheque this year.

The size of the cheque depends on the response of her fellow citizens. It couldn't possibly match the size of the load of trouble she faces — and fights — day by day.

Her husband left her 12 years ago, shortly after the birth of twins. He died later in England. One twin died and the other is in a Victoria hospital with a seriously weakened heart.

She cannot work, for she too has a bad heart, a condition that has gradually worsened since she was 20. Three more of her 11 children live in her rented home. One 16-year-old boy is in school, a waitress daughter lost her job a month ago and an older daughter, with a three-year-old child, has separated from her husband.

More trouble came 18 months ago. Worry over the misfortunes of another daughter brought on a stroke that still affects the mother's memory.

The household lives on social assistance and what money comes in when the two older daughters are working.

"I sit down with a paper and think about every cent," she said.

Once a seamstress, she has remade everything possible into other clothes. The wardrobe is empty.

Last month was rough, with no one working. So an extra cheque for $24 was added by welfare.

"I went right down to the store—I'm a crafty shopper—and spent it all for food. And I cooked it up, just as much every day... enough... and that was it."

"I try to be as happy as I can... I know there are people worse off than I am. Once, I used to make up parcels at Christmas for the poor... I suppose I'm like them today."

She hopes to have her daughter home from hospital for Christmas. She is sadly missed, because so much of her young life has been spent at home, sick.

"I'm not ashamed of my home. It's clean. I have my children and it's happy."

This is one Colonist 500 Fund story. The fund cheque will add another slight touch of happiness.

There are 499 other such stories that might well be told. The need is urgent. Will you help?
